FOREST FIRE ERUPTS NEAR LOS ANGELES

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—A brush fire whipped by strong winds broke out on the west side of Malibu Canyon today and forced the evacuation of residents in the Malibu Knolls area.

Los Angeles County officials rushed in men and equipment to fight the blaze that quickly swept over 10 acres and was out of control.

A NIGHT'S WORK WELL DONE

Firemen fought more than an hour to kill a second-storey office blaze at Hickman Tye Hardware, 910 View Street, Wednesday night, holding the damage at $2,000. Two desks, a calculating machine, filing cabinets and walls were damaged in the blaze. Employees in next-door garage gave alarm after smoke began billowing out the windows about 9:30. City police diverted traffic around the block of View Street clogged by fire engines. Origin of fire is still unknown. (Robin Clarke photo.)

Inspection Posts Scheme In New U.S. Peace Plan

Seek to Prevent Surprise Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration is drafting a proposal for a system of international military observation posts to be set up on both sides of the Iron Curtain in Europe as a safeguard against surprise attack.

It is understood officials are thinking about proposing 20 to 30 posts on each side at key transportation centres where unusual military activity by either Soviet or U.S. forces might be detected.

President Johnson announced in his State of the Union message Wednesday outlining government policy in 1964 that "we shall make new proposals" on disarmament issues when the 17-nation disarmament conference reopens negotiations at Geneva in two weeks.

Work is going forward on the proposals in the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency under the immediate direction of William C. Foster, agency director. He is expected to head the U.S. delegation in the new round of negotiations beginning Jan. 21.

Officials have said the U.S. proposals will deal with familiar issues in new ways which they hope will enlarge the possibility of agreement with the Soviet Union.

Disarmament experts of the United States, Britain, Canada, and Italy are undertaking consultations aimed at co-ordinating their policies. France, whose chair in the conference is empty because President de Gaulle decided not to participate, is an observer in the consultations.

The Western Allies form one bloc in the Geneva conference. Eastern European Communist countries another and a group of smaller nations the third.

The observation posts idea had been talked about by both East and West for several years. U.S., British and Canadian leaders all have said they consider it one of the best possibilities for a new East-West agreement, but so far there apparently has been little negotiation on numbers and deployment of the posts.

Other issues on which proposals are being drafted include: 1. Agreement at least on the principle of destruction of obsolete weapons to prevent their being distributed to smaller countries. The U.S. B-47 bomber, a jet-powered nuclear bomb carrier, is cited as one example of the kind of weapon which along with its Soviet counterpart, the Badger, could be destroyed.

2. Agreement on a pledge against the dissemination of nuclear weapons to other countries which do not already possess them.

3. Designation by East-West agreement of nuclear free zones in the world. This would mean simply that the nuclear powers would agree not to stockpile weapons in, for example, Latin America, Africa or Asia or at least in designated areas of those continents.

4. Establishment of a committee of experts to work on the problem of putting a ceiling on military budgets.

Goldwater Blasted on Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Robert McNamara accused Senator Barry Goldwater today of damaging U.S. security and being politically irresponsible in saying that U.S. long-range missiles are not reliable.

McNamara released a statement taking issue with assertions made by Goldwater while the Arizona senator, a candidate for the Republican party's presidential nomination for the November U.S. election, was campaigning in New Hampshire.

Goldwater said that cuts in defence spending proposed by President Johnson would put too much reliance on U.S. missile forces.

Goldwater said intercontinental ballistic missiles are not reliable, adding:

"I can tell you that, and I'll probably catch hell for it."

McNamara's statement of reply was read to reporters by assistant defence secretary Arthur Sylvester.

McNamara's statement said: "Senator Goldwater's reported statement that the U.S. long-range missiles are not dependable is completely misleading, politically irresponsible, and damaging to the national security. There is no information, classified or otherwise, to support the false implication that our long-range missiles cannot be depended upon to accomplish their mission."

In Portsmouth, N.H., Senator Goldwater accused President Johnson today of unwittingly enlisting in a leftist attack on American conservatives by charging that an atmosphere of hate was behind the assassination of President Kennedy.

Goldwater called it "that hate theme" and said it was the "most overdone, the most untruthful attack in the history of this country."

WIRE BRIEFS

Merritt Girl Found

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A 16-year-old girl and a 24-year-old man who disappeared from Merritt on New Year's Eve have been found 80 miles north of here at Vavenby, RCMP said today. They are being returned to Merritt.

Four Rob Bank

MONCTON (CP)—Four men robbed a local bank of an estimated $12,000 today and escaped in a car. About an hour later RCMP reported they had arrested three men and recovered a "sack" of money.

Arson Suspects Held

MONTREAL (CP)—Police arrested six youths during the night in connection with the deliberate setting of 34 fires in Montreal's east end.

'Caisse' Robbed

Reform in Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP)—Premier Nguyen Ngoc Tho today outlined a reform program aimed at summoning all national forces in South Viet Nam to win the U.S.-backed war against the Communist Viet Cong. (See story page 5.)

World Praise For LBJ

LONDON (Reuters)—President Johnson's State of the Union message announcing a cut in U.S. nuclear weapons production today won applause in world capitals.

In London, diplomatic quarters showed keen interest in Johnson's disclosure that the United States would make new proposals at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference reopening Jan. 21.

British observers said the speech was bound to improve further the international climate on the eve of the important and complex Geneva negotiations.

Russian newspapers carried Tass news agency reports of the speech without comment.

The London Daily Sketch praised Johnson for showing "real determination" to bring the nuclear arms race to a halt.

The Daily Telegraph portrayed Johnson as a leader who is "marching straight ahead."

'MOMENTUM INCREASED'

"The Kennedy momentum is maintained, even increased," the paper added.

In Paris, the Johnson address was favorably received in French government circles although there was no official comment.

The re-dedication of the administration to the Kennedy stand on racial issues and the policy of giving foreign goods competitive access to the American market were noted with approval in Paris.

But there was nothing in the speech calculated to change the French boycott of the Geneva talks. France considers that preconditions for effective disarmament have not yet been met.

In Rome, the Conservative newspaper L'Unita said the message was neither disappointing nor did it raise enthusiasm, but was based on prudence.

On the international plane it lacked precise directives as as-

NEAR MISSILES

Tremors Panic Ont. Area

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Two violent earthquakes in Northern Ontario early Wednesday shot panic through residents here, the site of Canada's first armed missile base.

The tremors, three minutes apart, came two hours after the third shipment of Bomarc missile warheads arrived at the Bomarc base since New Year's Eve, causing frantic phone calls that jammed police switchboards here.

The first tremble was felt at 5:04 a.m. at Deep River, Ont., and the second, more violent, three minutes later. A roaring, rumbling sound accompanied the shocks, recorded in Peterborough, 132 miles southeast and slightly in Toronto, 200 miles south.

Only damage reported was to the walls of an Owen Sound home. They cracked under the earthquakes pressure.

Green Baize 'Out' Pink Leather 'In'

OTTAWA (CP)—For a considerable number of years, Ottawa's chief status symbol has been the office door covered with green baize.

The baize is supposed to muffle sounds so that private office conversations don't become the property of passing eavesdroppers.

Imagine, then, the consternation among the insiders behind the green baize doors at the recent redecoration of the second floor of the east block of the Parliament buildings.

The green baize on second-floor doors has been replaced by a peach-pink leatherette. Peach-pink leatherette probably doesn't sound like much of a status symbol—except for one thing: The second-floor offices of the east block are occupied by Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin and their chief aides.

Whether other cabinet ministers, deputy ministers and assistant undersecretaries who occupy the seats of power will aspire to and attain the symbolic pinnacle of a leatherette door isn't clear yet.

The works department holds the purse strings for redecoration and it hasn't yet indicated the amount left, if any, in its leatherette fund.

... WHEN 'TREATY' MADE

Was Governor Douglas a Two-Faced Paleface?

By JOHN PAINE

NANAIMO—"Perhaps the white men were speaking with forked tongues," commented crown prosecutor Don Cunliffe Wednesday when attacking the value of an 1854 agreement between Nanaimo Indians and then Governor Sir James Douglas.

"At the time Sir James was wearing two hats," he went on. "He was governor of the colony and also chief factor for the Hudson's Bay Company. "I think he was buying peace rather than land."

He was speaking in the appeal against a deer killing conviction against Clifford White of the Nanaimo band and David Bob of the Nanaimo band last summer by Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts, when they were fined $100 for being in illegal possession of six deer hides under the Provincial Game Act.

The defence case is based on the George III proclamation in 1763 stating Indian hunting rights; two 1963 Supreme Court of Canada verdicts upholding the Indian and Eskimo right to hunt and the fact that the "vested rights" of the Indians had never been rescinded.

Didn't Cover West

Mr. Cunliffe contended the proclamation did not cover west coast Indians as they were not discovered at that date—Capt. Cook arrived here in 1776; that treaty, Indian verdicts did not apply in British Columbia as treaty Indians had abrogated their native rights under the proclamation by the terms of their treaty and that Section 87 of the Indian Act was specifically designed to include Indians within provincial law; and that the Island agreements were not treaties in any sense, only land conveyances.

No 'Nation'

He also said that there never was an Indian nation and that Canada had been won from the French by the British, who had then fought an Indian war until the final battle of Bloody Run when the royal proclamation was made.

'Treaty' Queried

Mr. Berger contended the abrogation of aboriginal rights was not included in the original grant to the HBC of Vancouver Island, nor was there any such inclusion in any other agreement. He also questioned the interpretation of the word "treaty" and pointed out under the HBC grant negotiations with the Indians for peaceful settlement was a part of the terms. "I do not think Mr. Douglas was empowered to enter into any treaties with the Indians. The land sale conveyances were a furtherance of the company policy which he carried out in the capacity of chief factor and not as governor," Crown prosecutor said. "He may have said one thing and meant another. I think the defendants are after the best of both worlds."

"All other agreements signed by the governors were between 1850 and 1851, when he was only chief factor. The Nanaimo agreement was signed three years later when he was holding both offices," he said.

The two cases handed down late last year involved a pit-lamping case in Manitoba and the shooting of a muskox by an Eskimo in the Northwest Territories. Both upheld the natives' right to hunt at all times of the year.

Urges Appeal

Mr. Justice Swensky commented during the hearing that "no matter what my verdict is in this appeal, I hope it will be further appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada for a final ruling."

The hearing was adjourned until March 4 when he will hand down his decision.

Right to Hunt

Defence lawyer Tom Berger of Vancouver contended that under the 1854 agreement, which the prosecution termed a "conveyance," the Indians had the right to hunt over unoccupied lands on the Island throughout the year.

This was the second day of the appeal before Mr. Justice A. J. H. Swensky, which had been adjourned from Dec. 8, 1963.

PERMANENT

Berlin Seeks Hole in Wall

BERLIN (Reuters)—West Berlin will try for a "comprehensive and if possible permanent" regulation for the movement of people between the two parts of Berlin, Mayor Willy Brandt said today.

Christmas Pass System 'Suitable'

BERLIN (Reuters)—The Christmas passes deal between East and West Berlin is "a suitable basis for further negotiations," the Communist East German government announced tonight.

The government press office, in a statement after a meeting of the presidium of the East German council of ministers, said the government is prepared "to strive for the solution of all questions between the GDR (East Germany) and West Berlin which contribute toward normalization of relations."

Living Costs Set Record

OTTAWA (CP)—The cost of living in Canada in November rose to a record high, with the consumer price index advancing two-tenths of a point to 134.2 at Dec. 1, the bureau of statistics said today.

The index—based on 1949 prices equalling 100—was 2.3 points above the Dec. 1, 1962, figure of 131.9.

Living costs increased as a result of higher prices for food, clothing, health and personal care, housing and recreation and reading.

Columbia R. Talks Go On

OTTAWA (CP)—Columbia River talks between the federal and British Columbia governments continued in their second day today and External Affairs Minister Martin said he hopes there might be a communique later. He indicated that the meeting would end today.

LONGWOOD—If there's one species of the animal kingdom that farmer Archie McCullum can't abide, it's the goat. So how come he has one in his barn with his prize Herefords?

Because he's been lax in his attendance at Lions Club meetings in nearby Mount Brydges, about 20 miles west of London.

Stabling the goat is Mr. McCullum's penalty for his tardiness, an idea conceived by club president Murray Caruthers to keep up club attendance. Truants are required to look after the shaggy, brown and white beast between meetings.

One member who plans to be at the next club meeting, Jan. 19, is Mr. McCullum and its an odds-on certainty the goat will go too.

NEW YORK—They met in Japan 46 years ago. Wednesday they were married by a 101-year-old bishop. The newlyweds are Rev. Dr. Charles S. Iglehart, 83, and Caroline Packham, 72, both former Methodist missionaries in Tokyo and Nagasaki. Bishop Herbert Welch performed the ceremony. "I still remember when they were youngsters," he said.

PHILADELPHIA—Lillian Reis, onetime dancer and former night club owner, has filed a suit seeking $2,050,000 in damages from the Saturday Evening Post.

In the action filed Wednesday against the magazine, Miss Reis charged that she was maligned by an article in the Oct. 26, 1963, issue. She also charged the article appeared without her consent and as a result the sale of her impending biography has suffered.

She also charged the photographs with the article violated the ordinary decency of the community.

Miss Reis is awaiting retrial this month in Pottsville, Pa., on charges of conspiracy in the 1959 burglary of the home of coal operator John B. Rich. The first trial ended in a deadlocked jury.

STAMFORD, England—John Askew, 27, was painting at the newspaper office when a fire broke out Wednesday. He phoned the fire department.

Then, being a volunteer fireman, he jumped on his bicycle, pedalled 500 yards to the firehouse, changed into his uniform and swung onto the engine.

In minutes he was back at the newspaper plant. But Rex Bushnell, manager of the plant, had put out the blaze.

WINNIPEG—One good deed deserves another in Winnipeg's magistrate's court Wednesday.

Result: Magistrate Isaac Rice's driveway gets free, shovelling this winter.

When Curtis Butterfield, 20, University of Manitoba student, was unable to pay his $25 fine for drinking under age, Magistrate Rice said he would keep him out of jail by paying it for him.

In return, the magistrate suggested the youth could keep his driveway clear for the rest of the winter.

However, Butterfield was able to pay his fine minutes after he left the courtroom, but decided he would shovel snow for the magistrate anyway because "he tried to help me."

Commented Magistrate Rice: "I hope we have blizzards all the time now."

Former Times Block
Bought by Eaton's

Purchase of the five-storey Times Building at Fort and Broad was confirmed Wednesday by T. Eaton Co. Ltd., whose property adjoins.

B.C. general manager F. E. West did not disclose the purchase price, but said acquisition was for possible store expansion.

There are no such plans yet, however, and the building will remain devoted to offices indefinitely, Mr. West said.

There are 25,000 square feet of space in the building, which was offered for sale last July by the owner.

Before 1951 the building was home of this newspaper, which was bought in 1949 by G. Max Bell, Calgary publisher and financier. It became an office block when Victoria Press Ltd. moved into its building on Douglas Street.

Former owner of the Times' and Eaton's premises was the pioneer department store family, Spencers.

Arrests, Dismissals
Of Ghana Officials

Times News Services
ACCRA—Dr. J. B. Danquah, one of Ghana's leading lawyers, was arrested and detained Wednesday under Ghana's Preventive Detention Act, it was officially announced.

President Nkrumah's office also announced that Ghana's commissioner of police, E. R. T. Madjiteyn, and nine other senior police officers had been dismissed from their posts effective Wednesday.

The announcements from the president's office said two of the police officers, S. D. Amaning, deputy commissioner of police, and M. K. Awuku, president of police, had been detained.

The detentions and dismissals followed a wave of protests in Ghana against police following what was described as an unsuccessful attempt on President Nkrumah's life here last Thursday.

However, Nkrumah may not have been the main target for the five bullets.

Salifu Dagari, 50, the slain security guard, is described as a harsh disciplinarian who had quarrelled with the accused slayer, Police Constable Seth Nicholas Kwami Ametewee.

By sifting fact and speculation from sources in rumor-ridden Ghana, this outline of the shooting and its aftermath emerges:

Nkrumah stepped out of his offices in Flagstaff House about 1 p.m. for a drive to luncheon at his residence, Christianburg Castle. He was dressed in a white jacket believed to be bullet-proof.

Dagari was at his side as Nkrumah descended three steps toward the limousine. A uniformed policeman walked swiftly toward the president and opened fire. He was less than 20 feet away.

There is stronger evidence that Nkrumah scurried back into Flagstaff House, chased by Ametewee. The president ran through several rooms into the kitchen.

Police guards, who apparently scattered for their own safety when the shooting started, caught and disarmed the slayer as he entered the kitchen after Nkrumah. The gunman had no more cartridges.

Garbage Campaign

A Saanich housewife is determined that enough complaints will go on record to secure weekly garbage collection.

Mrs. T. D. W. McCulloch, 2452 Camelot, is starting a new campaign to petition Saanich council for more frequent service.

She mailed a petition to council requesting weekly collection "instead of the 14 to 17-day collection which is presently operating."

Mrs. McCulloch is appealing for people throughout the municipality to send similar petitions.

Malaysian
Peace Talks
Goal of Parley

MANILA (AP)—A high-level meeting with Malaysian officials to find a peaceful solution to the dispute between Malaysia and Indonesia is emerging as the goal of current talks between Indonesian President Sukarno and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal, highly placed sources indicated today.

The sources, who refused to be identified, said the Philippines and Indonesia do not regard the present situation as an insurmountable obstacle to revival of Maphilindo, the association that Indonesia and the Philippines formed with Malaya last summer before it became the nucleus of the Malaysian federation.

The sources said there was agreement in the current talks that the door should be left open for the inclusion of Malaysia in Maphilindo and for the possible admission of such other Asian countries as Thailand, Cambodia, Laos and Burma.

MAY BACK CLAIM

It was also indicated that Indonesia may make a public announcement of support for the Philippine claim to British North Borneo, now the Malaysian state of Sabah.

The Malaysian government's refusal to Philippine conditions concerning negotiations of this claim have blocked Manila's recognition of Malaysia.

Press Hits Blackmail
Over Big Sale to Cuba

LONDON (UPI)—The British press today ridiculed U.S. attempts to halt the sale of British buses to Cuba. Newspapers accused the United States of using blackmail and double standards.

There were indications that another ally of the United States, Spain, was determined to go ahead with trade with Premier Fidel Castro's regime despite U.S. disapproval. Informed sources in Madrid believe Spain will build about 100 ships for Cuba worth about $500 million.

Britain said it has no legal means to stop the $11.2 million sale of buses by the Leyland Motors Co.

DOUBLE STANDARD

The British press was more outspoken.

"For the love of Pete!" The London Daily Mail exploded.

"The fact is that the United States applies double standards when it comes to trade with the Communists," it added. "Both the administration and Congress approved the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union—had rightly so. But we could argue that filling a Russian belly is far more strategic than saving Cuba."

The Guardian of Manchester said the United States frightened British shippers from carrying the buses to Cuba, with the result that East Germany got the shipping contract.

HIT SHIPPING

"All that the U.S. government has succeeded in doing is to inflict a blow on British merchant shipping," it said. "The Cubans will get their buses and the East Germans will get a handsome revenue from freights."

"It is an absurdity with nasty undertones, and sets nasty precedents," the newspaper added. "Blackmail is an ugly thing. It hurts innocent third parties . . . but in the end it is likely to hurt the blackmailer far more."

The Daily Mail and other newspapers recalled that U.S. aid to Indonesia was helping a nation "more or less at war with the young, British-sponsored democracy of Malaysia."

The Evening Standard said Wednesday that the United States reacted unsympathetically to a recent British request to stop supplying Indonesia with food while Britain was actively engaged in combat with Indonesian terrorists in Borneo.

The Madrid Catholic newspaper Ya said Wednesday that Spain "does not want to break its ties with a piece of its culture, its language, and its race."

Cuba was a Spanish colony until the end of the 19th century and has maintained close cultural ties with the mother country ever since.

The newspaper asked, "Why should Khrushchev receive better treatment than Fidel Castro, just because he leads a great power?"

CUBANS SEEK TO BUY MORE IN EUROPE

LONDON (UPI)—A new Cuban mission was on its way to Europe today to buy heavy machinery in the wake of the purchase of $12 million worth of buses from Britain that has aroused angry American reaction.

Reports from Havana said the trade group from Premier Fidel Castro's regime, apparently encouraged by the big deal, plans to stop first in Prague, and then visit London, Paris and Vienna.

If the Cuban group negotiates a deal with private British firms, there appears to be nothing to block it here.

3 TRAPPED MINER CALLS:

'Never Mind Food, Water Just Get Me Out of Here'

MACKAY, Idaho (AP)—"Never mind the food and water," said miner Stanley Johnson who had been trapped in a cave-in 1,158 feet underground, "just get me the hell out of here!"

So his rescuers, who had thought he might want something to eat after 27 hours in a 12-by-six-foot mine pocket, got him out Wednesday.

They took him to a hospital in nearby Arco where the doctors looked him over, gave him food and sent him to bed.

He was cold and somewhat weakened—the temperature in the pocket was around 40 degrees—but otherwise okay.

Custer County Sheriff Glen Reed who drove Johnson, 38, a bachelor, to the hospital said: "He didn't have much to say. He was pretty cold but had enough room to keep moving around in there so he could keep from freezing."

THEY COULDN'T BLAST

Justice of the Peace Art Wright of Mackay said: "They got him out by drilling a series of holes through a partition from another shaft, then chipping out the area between the holes. They couldn't blast because of the cave-in danger."

"He was trapped around one o'clock Tuesday afternoon. He and Harold Lambert were drilling into the bottom of a stope—an old ore pocket—but didn't know it was that close."

"When they hit bottom, tons of fill came down. It trapped Harold for about 30 minutes, but he dug out. Stanley couldn't—there was too much."

A Promising Message

SHORTLY AFTER BEING inaugurated as vice-president, Mr. Lyndon Johnson stated his credo: "I am a free man, an American, the vice-president of the United States, and a Democrat—in that order." His State of the Union message to Congress yesterday maintains that order. The President emerges, in this his first such message, as a man of goodwill determined to do what he can to establish "a nation that is free from want and a world that is free from hate."

Much of the legislation which Mr. Johnson hopes to put through Congress was, of course, initiated by his predecessor, Mr. Kennedy. But he has added his own stamp to it, and his own energetic drive. Mr. Johnson has clearly placed himself in the van of the new trend of our times. On East-West affairs he will be co-operative, seeking areas of agreement and refraining from provocation. He will bury no one, he says, neither will he be buried.

His thinking has been given a practical outlet in his proposals to reduce production of nuclear materials and to make a dramatic demonstration of United States' readiness to destroy excess armaments. His statement of intent—a start on disarmament even without international agreement—follows shortly after announcement of a military reduction by Mr. Khrushchev and an invitation to discuss further disarmament measures.

Mr. Johnson's message, therefore, carries hope and encouragement for all men. It is a heartening fact for the whole world that the chief spokesman for the leading nation of the Western world should be dedicated to such sentiments and actions.

In domestic affairs, Mr. Johnson appears equally enlightened. He will push Mr. Kennedy's Negro rights legislation to remove "not some but all racial discrimination"; he urges action on tax reduction so that up to $200 millions a month might immediately be freed for purchases and investment; he declares unconditional war on poverty which he will combat through better schools, job training, and opportunities; and he proposes measures to combat unemployment.

It is not to be thought that Mr. Johnson's high purposes will be carried out as he envisions them. At the best of times the Congressional mills grind slowly, and the present Congress has been notably laggard in implementing Mr. Kennedy's far-seeing legislation. But even subject to practical limitations, Mr. Johnson's program is uplifting and invigorating. One feels that here is a man who will overlook no opportunity to further world peace, to right wrongs, to work for humanity—and do it with understanding, justice and maturity.

Observers uninfluenced by involvement in the political turmoils of the United States, particularly in this election year, will feel on the basis of Mr. Johnson's message and what it reveals of the man, that the state of the union is in good hands.

Facing Up to Facts

IN LINE WITH THE PRINCIPLE that Canada must cut its national operating costs and get its budget out of the red, the defence department has announced further economy measures.

It is unfortunately a fact that principles can only be implemented by concrete acts. It may hurt that the naval shipbuilding program must be cut back, it may hurt that certain naval ships must be withdrawn from service and the force reduced. But if every move to cut into our serious budgetary deficit is met by protests that the money should be saved elsewhere—no money will be saved.

Hence there must be agreement that the government's reductions in the armed services are valid. The nation's defences will not be appreciably diminished; the reduction in manpower will be achieved through a slowdown in recruiting, not in dismissals.

Through these and previously announced parings it is estimated that close to $8 millions a year will be saved. This is not much, compared with a deficit that is still well over half a billion dollars, but it is a start. Other savings, in defence or elsewhere, must follow. And they will not be at the behest of whim or of arbitrary intent, but of necessity.

A Shirt That Wasn't Lost

WHEN CAPT. H. J. C. TERRY, president of Northland Navigation Co. of Vancouver, says "We think they (the provincial government) will lose their shirt" on the proposed Kelsey Bay-Prince Rupert ferry run, he is echoing a familiar statement.

This is roughly what established shipbuilders and transportation companies, the CPR included, said before the province started the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen fast ferry run. The informed veterans of the ferry field "knew it couldn't be done." But it was.

Admittedly there are great differences between a transit link joining highly populated areas on south Vancouver Island and the mainland, and the sparsely settled regions from Comox north. Admittedly the distance between terminals will be much longer and fares substantially higher. Moreover a sea-going vessel sturdier than those on the lower island run will be required.

But there are offsetting factors. In the first instance this is considered primarily as a tourist attraction in a region which can expect a large increase in the flow of motorists from various parts of the United States, through the length of Vancouver Island, over the water to Prince Rupert and thence by ferry and road to Alaska—"the route of the Haida." And this is a tourist industry which will continue to grow as the years go by.

The route will cut some 450 miles from other overland journeys from the United States Pacific coast to Prince Rupert, and the scenery, along with the novelty of the cruise, should be an increasingly attractive magnet. The value to Vancouver Island, which would become an essential link in the chain of transportation, should be obvious.

Of course there is a risk involved in the economics of the proposed service. There was, also, in the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen link—so great a risk that no operating companies would accept it. British Columbia's government did, and thereby achieved a success of outstanding proportions.

These things call for boldness, and imagination. On the record, the government deserves its chance. We hope (and rather expect) it will prove Capt. Terry wrong.

Helping the Retarded

PUBLIC ATTENTION HAS been directed in recent days to the heroic and encouraging efforts made by the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded—and at the same time some of its problems have been defined.

This is an association which, in general terms, offers training and care for children under school age, or persons older than the legal limit for which free education is provided provincially.

The fact that these groups are being catered to demonstrates the dedication of the association. At one time it served cases of school age unable to cope with minimum requirements in educational achievement. Now that work is undertaken substantially, if not entirely, by the local school board with the assistance of the provincial department of education.

Public authorities do not, however, provide for similar training for individuals beyond school age, usually 19. Nor do they supply pre-school treatment in areas where kindergartens are not operated for children who are not handicapped. There are many problems confronting the association—not the least of them finances. Victorians have been told of the funds provided by the United Appeal and by private donations. These permit operations based on the previous year's budget but do not furnish sufficient money to expand the work.

This is the familiar story of most charities, but it has some very encouraging features. The association keeps working to give as much help as possible, and more and more people responsible for retarded children and older cases are turning to it for help, bringing light to a condition which formerly suffered from all the detriment of darkness and shame.

Not enough is being done, publicly or privately, for the retarded. But at least some progress is being made. The number assisted—and one of the greatest aids that can be accorded is training—in behavior which permits them to get along with others—keeps growing. The work for them is painstaking, often heart-breaking, but it is being done by people who add greatly to the stature of the community in which they live.

Bierman, Victoria Daily Times.

GOLDWATER CANDIDATURE

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A Shambles for the Republican Party

THE diffidence with which Senator Goldwater announced that he would run revealed how little he enjoys what is ahead of him.

He is forced to go through a grueling series of primary campaigns in which his main objective is not to defeat Lyndon Johnson and become president of the United States, but to capture control of the machinery of the Republican Party. Although he often says that he does not wish to fight Republicans, he is in fact engaged in what promises to be a fierce struggle with Republicans.

Lippmann

Rivals All 'Democrats'

In order to dominate the Republican convention, he is taking the line that the rival Republican candidates, beginning but not ending with Governor Rockefeller, are not Republicans at all, but Democrats.

He won't debate with them. He dismisses them as outsiders. The established Republican leadership, which is now grouped around General Eisenhower, is to be ousted and purged, and the Goldwater faction, which is a minority within a minority party, is to be invested as the only true Republicans.

The audacity of this claim will become increasingly evident as the primary campaign unfolds. In his press conference at Phoenix, for example, he put General Eisenhower aside with a sneering reference to the fact that this man, the only Republican elected to the presidency for a generation, has been travelling in a private railroad car.

Mr. Rockefeller, the only Republican elected governor of New York since Thomas Dewey, is dismissed as a mere Democrat. Thus, Senator Goldwater is trapped in a commitment to argue that he alone is a true Republican and that he alone is qualified to speak for the party.

There is every prospect, therefore, that in the Republican primaries the issues which divide the party will become sharper as time goes on. It was plain enough in the senator's appearance on "Meet the Press" that he is cast in a role which he does not altogether relish. For by insisting on purging the other Republicans, he knows quite well that he is left with extreme positions which are political liabilities.

His normal political instinct is to fudge these issues in order to allow his less extreme supporters to say that he never really meant them. But it will be remarkable if the Republicans, whose political lives are mortally challenged, and the Democrats, who are not careless in these matters, allow Senator Goldwater to weasel his way out of the absurdities he has uttered—on the income tax, our relations with Russia, Social Security, the Tennessee Valley and the racial question. If he tries to retreat to a more moderate position, he will mar his one greatest political asset—the image of himself as a no-nonsense, put-up-or-shut-up, roughriding he-man.

Out on Limb

He made one attempt on "Meet the Press" to extricate himself from the position that we should withdraw recognition from the Soviet Union.

First he explained that he wanted to use the threat of non-recognition as "a bargaining tool," and then in a wild attempt to get back off the limb onto which he had crawled, he made the extraordinary and altogether untrue statement that if he were president, he alone could not withdraw recognition: "We have to keep in mind, though, this would take an action of the Senate of the United States." The remark shows how little he understands the constitutional powers of the office for which he is now an avowed candidate.

The essential Goldwater theme is the claim that he speaks the true and fundamental principles of the party in Washington, of Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and of Eisenhower. To anyone brought up in a Republican tradition, this is a preposterous claim.

Senator Goldwater would transform the party of Hamilton into an Anti-Federal Party. He would transform the party of Lincoln into the party of white supremacists. He would transform the party of Theodore Roosevelt into an Anti-Progressive Party of uncontrolled and unregulated businessmen, each man for himself and the devil take the hindmost.

Radical Reactionary

By all the historic and traditional considerations of the English-speaking world, by the precedents that come from Burke and Hamilton, from Disraeli and from Lincoln, Barry Goldwater is not a conservative at all. He appears to be totally without the essential conservative respect and concern for the social order as a living body.

He is a radical reactionary who would, if we are to believe what he says, dismantle the modern state. His political philosophy does not have its roots in the conservative tradition, but in the crude and primitive capitalism of the Manchester School. It is the philosophy not of the conservators of the social order, but of the newly rich on the make.

If he is able to capture the Republican Party organization by getting himself nominated, the condition of the party will be a shambles. For the Republicans, the question in 1964 would then be not how to beat Lyndon Johnson, but how to survive the assault and the challenge of the Goldwater faction.

Something Afoot on German Unity

FROM BONN

THERE is a hiss of escaping rumor about new moves in the German question. In Paris, Washington and London—everywhere in fact except Bonn—anonymous statesmen have been taking their favorite journalists aside and muttering in their ears that there's to be a fresh effort for reunification, an attempt to gather again with the Russians to discuss at a high-level the ending or the mitigating of the division in Germany.

The London versions—one has to compare these fragments like corrupted scraps of a forgotten Greek play—hint at a bold reassessment of the whole German question, perhaps through a Foreign Minister's conference called at British initiative. The latest scrap is a story from the London correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune which suggested that the West was ready to recognize the "de facto" existence of three German political entities: West Germany, East Germany and West Berlin. This however, has now been repudiated by the British Foreign Office.

Washington and Paris have provided less dramatic contributions to rumor. In Washington, the talk seems to be more of a fresh arrangement over Berlin rather than a full-scale heave at the frozen ruins of German unity. From Paris have come even vaguer confirmations that "something is up" on Germany or Berlin.

Alone In Silence

Only Bonn stays silent. Government spokesmen say that the rumors surprise them. If "something" is indeed afoot on the German question, then it must have been discussed between President Johnson and Chancellor Erhard at the LBJ Ranch after Christmas, and there is not a hint of it in what we know about the talks.

Only one slight and very puzzling chip of evidence has fallen from the side of Bonn: at the recent NATO conference in Paris, members of the West German delegation apparently told a confidant that their private attitude to the proposed "surprise attack" precautions was no longer the same as their public one. Now, surprise attack precautions, involving the setting up of observer posts in the NATO and Warsaw Pact areas, is one of the proposed steps in the follow-up of the test ban treaty, and the West Germans have hitherto insisted that the posts must not be confined only to the ground of the two Germanies.

This has been accepted by the West. It seems extraordinary, therefore, that Bonn should have changed views on the matter: yet, if this has happened, it would illuminate the puzzling mist which is gathering over German affairs.

A hypothesis can at least be set up now. Picking the evidence together one seems to see the outline of a deal whose terms run something like this:

1. America and Britain want to carry on the step-by-step relaxation process with Russia. The next steps, however, would touch the military security of West Germany—observer posts and so forth—and up till now Bonn has insisted that no military changes should be made without an accompanying attack on the problems of Berlin and of divided Germany itself.

2. The West may have accepted this. If so, there may soon be a top-level Western move, possibly a conference with Russia, to discuss Germany and Berlin. Dr. Schroeder, the West German foreign minister, has already said that he would like to see all-German committees set up under the "neutral" Four-Power auspices of Hitler's conquerors. Such a conference might well fail, but at least an effort to reunify Germany would have been made—and Chancellor Erhard's government could draw no little credit from it at the 1965 elections.

3. In return for the reunification attempts, West Germany would become more compliant to measures of relaxing tension which affected German security. Towards the negotiations for the Christmas opening of the Berlin Wall, Chancellor Erhard has already shown himself far more flexible than Dr. Adenauer.

On the Russian side, too, there are signs that the Eastern bloc is warming up the disused machinery for a new round of European diplomacy. The opening of the Wall is thought to have been pressed on Herr Ulbricht by Moscow, and few in West Berlin doubt that 1964 will see more permanent arrangements to allow West Berliners through. And Mr. Khrushchev has just flown to Poland to confer privately with Mr. Gomulka, at the same moment that the West learns that Poland is preparing a new version of the Rapacki plan for nuclear disengagement in Central Europe.

Is this the pattern set for 1964 in Europe? If it is, we should pay honor to the Arlington grave, for President Kennedy first set its outlines forth.

Fed Up

Today the long-suffering public is being "warned" of the dangers of disunity. After dinner speakers and many others are telling us to speak French or the country will be divided. What they should be told to do, is to mind their own business.

With hardly enough tax money coming in for us to pay for our pupils to learn English, they would make us poverty-stricken by hiring French teachers.

If we are to be dictated as to what we shall have to learn and what we shall have to do in order to stay "united", then let us have separation.

There is far too much catering to these minorities just to get their votes. Many of us are sick and tired of these minorities telling us that no prayers shall be allowed in our public schools, that we should have a "distinctive" Canadian flag and learn two languages to promote "Unity".

All these ideas, if put into effect, would just cause more disunity. We are doing very well as it is. Most of us respect our neighbors' religion, his race and his way of life as long as he doesn't stick his nose into our own business. If the French-Canadians are not satisfied to stay in with the rest of Canada, let them get out. For a people who were beaten fair and square in battle, they have been used fairly. I don't think for one minute it is the common people of Quebec who are behind all this agitation, but just a minority who wants to run Quebec themselves.

I wish to express my thanks through your valuable paper, to the kindness of Drs. Ennals, Milligan and Duxbury, also the ambulance men in transporting me to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, also to the kindness of the nurses and staff during my period of tenancy of the hospital.

I cannot speak too highly of their kindness to me during my residence there.

Time-Clocks for M.P.s

It is reported that only 56 of the 260 members of parliament were present when it was prorogued for the holidays. During the previous sittings there were occasions when only about fifty members were present.

This habitual absenteeism is making parliament a mere farce. All political parties in the house are guilty of this disregard of the duties to which they were elected. None of them ever had it so good before and now their main interest is to avoid an election which would cause some of them to lose the $18,000 a year, plus some special allowances, which they voted for themselves.

Our elected representatives are showing their contempt for their employers; the electors and tax payers. Although we are the employers we are allowed no say, whatever concerning their rates of pay and, hours of work and the performance of their work.

Since these so-called public servants recognize no responsibility for their feather-bedding it is suggested that time clocks be installed and each member be required to punch in and out in the same manner as required by industry and to forfeit a day's pay for each unauthorized absence. No other public services are permitted to go AWOL with full pay.

Government itself is merely the prime minister and his cabinet, a minute fraction of the population, the actions of which parliament was designed to control, not from any purely political angle but from the viewpoint of the welfare of the electorate. Any government can act as it pleases when nobody is interested in what it does.

If we, the employers, have no power to fire our representatives for any neglect of their proper duties or for inefficiency in their performance, then it is high time that we insist upon having that basic right. Where are we going to end up with an apprentice government and an absentee parliament?

ONE OF THE EMPLOYERS.

Champlain and Unity

The Society which bears the glorious name of Samuel de Champlain, established in 1949, for the commemoration of the Founder of Canada and National Canadian Hero, is happy to offer to its members throughout Canada, its devoted friends, and to the Canadian people in general, good wishes on the occasion of the New Year.

The year 1964 marks the 350th anniversary of the founding of Canada, with honored dignity, on the site of Quebec, 1608, by Samuel de Champlain. It also marks the 97th anniversary of the 5th or 6th present Canadian Confederation, of which Champlain is the precursor and the first father. Indeed, it is he who established the principle of decentralized administration in Canada, when, from his seat of government in Quebec, "whence he was governing this country", he appointed Sieur de La Violette, in 1634, as the governor of Trois-Rivières (Three Rivers). He also intended to appoint Sieur de Maisonneuve as governor of Montreal. This marked the beginning of the confederate system of administration in Canada, of which we are celebrating the 350th Anniversary in 1964.

The National Samuel de Champlain Society is striving to maintain a link between the facts of Canada's past and the prevailing conditions of today. It is playing its part in the revision of Canadian History and in setting right Canadian social facts and realities. It points out that ideological conflicts, between different groups and economic interests, have always existed; but that the territorial unity of Canada, as established by Champlain himself, from sea to sea, has not been broken by numerous disintegrating or disruptive attempts, nor annihilated by other political powers.

The National Samuel de Champlain Society wishes, in 1964, that all Canadians, respecting religions, languages, social and economic interests, remain united as in the past, under Champlain, and find in this noble model of the Founder of Canada and National Hero, reasons to carry on believing in their country, and to work together unceasingly for its development.

GEORGE BOULANGER, President, National Samuel de Champlain Society, 495 Franciscans Street, apt 3, Quebec City 6.

Gerald Waring ...REPORTING

OTTAWA—In my book every newspaperman should be an enemy of official censorship over what the people shall read, see and hear, because when censorship flourishes, freedom of the press languishes and political freedom is endangered.

Indeed, with that much at stake every citizen should be vigilant against those who would enforce any prohibition on material for the mind.

The great twilight zone of censorship, where controversy is greatest between the censorial and the anti-censorial, mainly covers matter of erotic interest. Many who have no puritanical inhibitions about sex believe erotica is harmful to immature minds, so most citizens tolerate its censorship by law. But a better solution is sex education of children. The need for early sex education was well expressed in a recent article in the United Church "Observer," and is becoming increasingly accepted by intelligent Canadians. Thus the "need" for censorship of erotica is diminishing.

However, erotica is not involved in the government's move to censor what citizens may see and hear on their TV sets. Rather, the motive is the government's policy of Canadianizing material telecast in Canada. And so State Secretary Pickersgill and Transport Minister McIlraith asked the Board of Broadcast Governors to consider and recommend what steps, including legislation, should be taken to establish government control over community antenna television systems, despite the fact that they do not telecast.

This means the government wants the authority to censor, at least indirectly, what citizens may pick out of the "free" air and feed through their TV sets to see and hear and think about.

It shocks me that a supposedly liberal government should seek such power. It is

Nobody Here But Us Chickens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — My general science teacher in high school used to tell his classes that sound does not exist unless it is heard.

If a mighty tree toppled over in the forest, and nobody was within earshot, then its fall would be noiseless, according to this pedagogue.

Assuming this is true, I suppose the principle also applies to the U.S. Senate. If a senator makes a speech, and nobody hears it, then he actually doesn't say anything. It might be argued, of course, that he doesn't say anything even if someone does hear it. But I'm trying to keep this scientific.

At any rate, senators appear to have learned their physics lessons well. To a man, they show a strong preference for speaking in places where they can be heard. In that regard, they are fortunate.

Any time a senator feels like uttering a few thousand well-chosen words, he can drop by the Senate chamber and find a built-in captive audience.

As long as a senator is speaking, it is considered bad parliamentary form for the

CANDIDATE?

Nixon Sniffing The Wind

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, apparently detecting growing sentiment that he should run again for the U.S. presidency, says he is "willing to do everything necessary" to see that the Republicans nominate their most popular and best qualified man for next November's general election.

He insists there has been no change in his position that he is not a candidate, but it was his first indication that events might put him in this year's race.

"I will make any decisions in the future," he said in an interview, "based on my primary conviction that it is vital to get new leadership for this country and that the Republican party must nominate its strongest man."

"I will say this—and I have said it before—I will make any sacrifice to see that that is done."

The former vice-president, 51 years old today, became a partner Jan. 1 in a New York law firm now named Nixon, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander which specializes in corporate and international law.

Nixon served as vice-president under President Eisenhower for two terms starting in 1952. He lost his bid for the U.S. presidency when the late John F. Kennedy was elected in 1960 by a margin of only 100,000 votes.

PM Assists Ecuadorian Family

MONTREAL (CP)—Foster Parents' Plan Incorporated announced today that Prime Minister and Mrs. Lester Pearson have agreed to provide financial help through its facilities to a seven-year-old Ecuadorian boy.

The organization's Canadian office here said Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will pay the standard amount of $16 a month toward the support and education of the boy, one of seven children in an underprivileged family.

Like other participants in the plan, the Pearsons have received a photograph and a case history of the youngster receiving their support.

The child is the first Ecuadorian to be enrolled under the international scheme for helping underprivileged children.

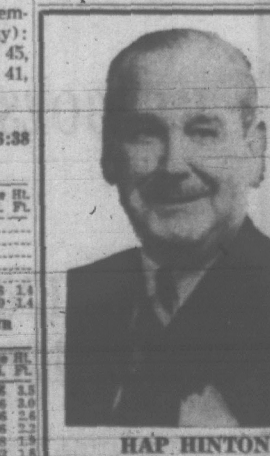

The organization said more than 5,500 Canadian individuals and groups now support children under its system.

The group said the family of the boy under the Pearsons' care has been living in a shack made of wood and cane, with no running water or sanitary facilities.

His father earns less than 80 cents a day as a night watchman, the group said.

Pay Boost Returned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Irrked at receiving only a $100-a-year pay increase, some teachers in United States schools overseas are returning the raise in little instalments to Defence Secretary Robert McNamara. The protests were revealed Tuesday by E. L. Katzenbach, Jr., deputy assistant secretary of defence. U.S. overseas teachers received an average of $4,720 this year, against a national average of $5,963.

FIGHT OR NOT TO FIGHT

U.S. Dilemma In S. Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — The United States may soon have to choose between watching the Communists win in South Viet Nam or sending in major U.S. combat units.

The time for such a decision has not arrived but senior American officials in Saigon are looking at the odds closely.

A possible middle ground is that Saigon's new military government will recover the initiative from the enemy guerrilla army.

American observers say military setbacks are the result of confusion following the Nov. 1 coup which ousted President Ngo Dinh Diem. They hope the situation will straighten out in a few months.

What if it doesn't? Neutralization of South Viet Nam — advocated by French President de Gaulle, by Cambodia and by the Communists — could be regarded as an indirect surrender to the Communists.

North Viet Nam has said it would be satisfied "for the time being" with a neutralized South Viet Nam with no U.S. troops.

"We could wait for a few years on that basis before reunifying South Viet Nam with our country," a Hanoi official said recently in nearby Cambodia.

Diplomats are weighing the advantages and disadvantages of using U.S. combat units.

The main advantage, many veteran U.S. officers here believe, would be to give Americans command initiative. There are 15,000 Americans here now. In their limited role as advisers and in support elements, many American officers and men feel handicapped.

"With a couple of divisions of U.S. airborne or marines, we could clean this place up fairly fast," one said.

A U.S. diplomat agreed, "I think there would be some important advantages. I think American combat troops coming here would have an important psychological effect in other parts of Southeast Asia—Indonesia, for example. It would be clear indication that America intends to carry out what it says, regardless of the risk.

Another diplomat disagreed: "We have no reason to think American combat troops would do any better in Viet Nam than the French Army did in their way, which ended in disaster in 1954."

"I'm not at all sure the American public or Congress are willing at this point to risk World War III—and there would be such a risk if we started bringing in combat elements."

"... I think the risk of South Viet Nam going Communist, ugly though that alternative is, is preferable to trying to take over the war ourselves."

These difficulties — caused mainly by a sharp drop in oil prices — are likely to be reflected back to the Canadian petroleum industry in terms of a considerable fall in the rate of exports from this country to the U.S. This has been seen already

Our Babysitters Unsung Heroines

By JACK HUTTON

It's nearly evening. Street lights blink through softly falling snow as TV sets are turned on in window after window down the street for after-supper programs.

Time to relax!

It may be for you or me, but not for several thousand Canadian girls. It's time to start work for our unsung heroines: the babysitters.

Watch them trudge through the snow, determined to arrive at the evening's assignment before Junior can coax his mother into letting him stay up to watch the next hour of TV.

If a national association devoted to preservation of babysitters doesn't exist now, it should. At least that's what I gather from Aileen Johnstone, a 15-year-old correspondent from Halifax, N.S.

But let Aileen speak for herself. If you have suggestions for her, I'll be glad to pass them on through the column.

"One of your columns recently mentioned courses available for girls or fellows who want to be babysitters," writes Aileen. "May I suggest that's not what we need. We need courses for the mothers and fathers."

Flat Tire

"Everyone talks about better qualifications for babysitters. Maybe we should brush up on first aid or other essentials, but what about parents who promise to return at midnight and come in at 3 a.m.?"

"You'd do every babysitter in Canada a service if you print something about the other side. Here are just a few suggestions for people hiring babysitters."

"First, get home at the time you tell the babysitter."

"Gosh knows why some people think this is unimportant. Our parents worry. We have school in the morning. All sorts of complications."

"We understand the occasional time when something happens — a flat tire, unexpected problems or that sort of thing. But have people forgotten that Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone?"

"Secondly, make a list whenever possible of the things the babysitter must do. A friend of mine was bawled out the other night for not turning down the furnace thermostat. How was she to know they always 'did that at 9 p.m.?"

"A girl friend says she heard rustling sounds at the back door of a house the other night but didn't bother to check. She thought it was the wind. The folks were mad because they claimed their cat almost froze outside."

"Thirdly, why expect babysitters to become involved if the people want to be 'Good-time Charlies'? Nothing annoys us more during this holiday season than having to listen to stories of their parties after they come home."

"I won't say anything about the husbands who try to get fresh after these parties. Needless to say, we just don't go back to those houses. Leave it to the wives to wonder why."

"I also wish some parents would stop accepting Junior's word ahead of ours every time. The other night I must have walked 10 miles carrying glasses of water to a wide-awake nine-year-old. When his folks got home he claimed I wouldn't give him a drink."

"I always enjoy your column because I feel you're on our side. So maybe you'll strike a blow for the HYPBA — the Help Your Poor Babysitter Association."

Winter Feed

Here's another letter this time from "A Regular Reader" in Vancouver, B.C., commenting on my suggestion to remember the birds this winter.

We enjoyed your column on feeding birds but Dad claims you didn't mention a bird-feeder anyone can make. According to him, yours was a bit complicated.

"We made a bird-feeder this winter with a tin can and two metal pie plates. You bolt the tin can between the pie plates, turning the top plate upside down. The tin can has V's cut into it with a can opener. Fill it with bird seed and it will spill out as the birds eat it up."

"Just hang this in the backyard or from a window, and you're bound to get results. Believe it or not, we pass out about two pounds of feed each week."

New Stamp

As we predicted, the first stamp honoring the late President J. F. Kennedy is already on the market. Costa Rica has issued a stamp as one of a set honoring visitors to a Latin American conference last year.

The price, however, is a bit stiff. The New York price for the set is $2.65. Other countries should issue stamps soon more in line with our pocket-books.

Decision Reserved

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz reserved decision Tuesday on an application asking for a writ to compel Woodlands School for mental defectives to admit the daughter of a Vancouver couple.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"The Damn Fool Fund" is off and running... its slogan is "Stamp Out Damn Foolishness by 2064 A.D."

Comedian Shelley Berman is founder of this unique charity. He wrote a cheque to start it...

"Pay to the Order of the Damn Fool Fund... $200" he hopes all damn fools will contribute... so that help can be given to (who else?) other damn fools.

"To people in or near Show Business with a deep need... who will confess their own damn foolishness," he says.

His remorse over an incident at Basin St. East inspired Berman. He'd lost his temper with some ringdiers earlier. He was waiting in the back to explain his side to me.

My Beautiful Wife approached to compliment him.

"Get lost, lady!" he snapped. "I'm waiting to talk to Earl Wilson!"

Berman later decided he should assess a fine against himself for that rash act, but for somebody's good.

"Contributors should confess what their damn foolishness was in writing. It might help us all get some sense," he says.

Arlene Francis, Harry Hershfield, Variety Editor Abel Green, Commentator Ed Fitzgerald and Postmaster Bob

Christenberry, solid citizens all, will be asked to sit on the Damn Fool Fund board. The Community Trust, 230 Park Ave., will be asked to administer the fund.

My B.W. says Berman already owes the Damn Fool Fund another contribution. He appointed me corresponding secretary—and treasurer.

(Incidentally, Shelley is giving up New York to move to Hollywood IMMEDIATELY. No remarks, please.)

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH:

There's a cafe in Miami (reports Herb Rau), that serves a drink called "The Card Table." Two of them and your legs fold up under you.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A fellow proposed this toast for '64: "May all your troubles last as long as your New Year's resolutions."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "I would rather be able to appreciate things I cannot have, than to have things I cannot appreciate."—Elbert Hubbard.

EARL'S PEARLS: The romance that begins by a splashing waterfall sometimes ends up over a leaky kitchen faucet. That's earl, brother.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Jim McGraw, age 12, of N. Olmsted, Ohio, for his question:

What is the 13-month calendar?

The people who work in the United Nations have taken many sour looks at our clumsy calendar. Several times the organization has suggested reforms. Bookkeepers and accountants also would like to see a simpler calendar. Someday a better calendar will be adopted by all countries, and almost all of us hope that this will happen soon.

Several people have suggested better calendars than the one we have, and two of these systems have gained a lot of support. One is the World Calendar, the other is known as the 13-Month Calendar. Every year brings us 365 days, plus an extra day for leap years. As things stand, a calendar month may bring us 28, 29, 30 or 31 days. The days of the week fall on different dates of the month and the year.

Calendar reformers wish to simplify this confusion. Every new year, every month and every week, they suggest, should begin with the same day and end with the same day of the week. If you were born on a Monday, you will have a Monday birthday all your life. The idea is simple when you remember that the 365 days of a year can be divided into 52 seven-day weeks, with one day left over and two left over on leap years.

The 13-Month Calendar has an extra month named Sol, tucked between June and July. Every fourth year, Leap Year Day comes at the end of June. The 365th day of the year will be Year Day, at the end of the year. Every month of 28 days begins on a Sunday and ends on a Saturday.

The World Calendar is also based on 364 days and 52 seven-day weeks. It, too, has a Year Day and a Leap Year Day, but its weeks are still stuffed into 12 unequal months. This calendar divides the year into four 91-day quarters of 13 weeks. Each quarter begins on a Sunday and ends on a Saturday.

25 Minutes for Crime 20 Seconds for Moral

QUEBEC (CP) — The Canadian Association of Police Chiefs will ask the justice department shortly for a crack-down on television films that feature what the association describes as 25 minutes of brutality and immorality followed by a 20-second moral.
Police Chief J. Adrien Robert of Montreal, president of the association, announced Tuesday it has formed a committee to study the problem and hopes to discuss it with federal authorities shortly.
He said the association feels "too many movie and television films are having a disastrous effect on youth by stressing banditry, violence, indecency and sex."

Olivier a Hit In Revival Of 'Hobson'
LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Laurence Olivier's National Theatre Company scored another success at the Old Vic Theatre Tuesday night with a revival of Hobson's Choice, an early 20th century comedy of British provincial life by the Lancashire playwright Harold Brighouse.
The play, which was one of the products of Miss Horlman's famous repertory company in Manchester, was first a hit in New York in 1915 and in London in 1916.
Now directed by John Dexter, and brilliantly acted by a cast headed by Joan Plowright, and Sir Michael Redgrave, it proved that its spontaneous humor, strong characterization and, not least, its human quality can still delight 1964 London. The laughter was continuous and the reception triumphant.
Hobson's Choice—which is set in the industrial city of Salford in the 1880s—is the fifth production of Britain's National Theatre launched in October and continues to strengthen its already high reputation.

Undarned Socks Win Frenchman Divorce

PARIS — French jurists, lawyers and a considerable part of the population are agog today at an innovation in French jurisprudence which smacks suspiciously of trans-Atlantic influence.
A court has granted a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty.
The 18th chamber of the tribunal of the Seine went the whole hog when it introduced this foreign idea into French law.
The form of mental cruelty which it found sufficient grounds for divorce consisted of a wife's neglect of her household to the extent that her husband—a retired non-employed 60-year-old army colonel—was obliged to send out his own laundry and find someone other than his wife—a 46-year-old schoolteacher—to darn his socks.
"There was nothing in the wife's behavior," said the court sternly, "of a devoted spouse attentive to the happiness of the home." This evoked in the colonel "a particularly serious psychopathological state," whose effect on the wife was to cause her "to slip little by little into permanent hostility."

French law provides only three grounds for divorce: Adultery, conviction for an "infamous crime" or "grave injuries." This last has been interpreted to cover beatings, repeated public insults and refusal of conjugal rights; it has never before been held to include "mental cruelty."

OLD SITE
The discovery of St. John's Nfld., dates back to 1497.

Right-thinking Frenchmen are expressing themselves today as hoping the appeals court will void this horrifying precedent before it enters into French court practice.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

Some shorts on sale today. If you're not hard to fit there may be something for you . . . Rudy Pilous steadfastly refuses to talk about Chicago Black Hawks, the team which invited him out of the National Hockey League, "because I don't want to be controversial." . . . Sports Illustrated begged the eloquent Pilous to let his hair down about the kooky Black Hawk situation but Rudy said no thanks, he'd hold onto his hair . . . Happy at Denver where his Invaders have a 20-point lead over the Western Hockey League flock, Pilous was talking about long John Sheaver, his No. 1 centre . . .

RUDY PILOUS

Father Bauer's Olympians . . . Said Ivan: "I happened to be near the Olympians' dressing room door when they played the Czechs here . . . One of the Olympians was trying to get undressed, but every time he'd drop his pants somebody would open the door . . . This went on for a while with the poor kid just about going nuts . . . Well, you know how hockey players are (the normal hockey player's reaction would be 'shut the &($!%Z door!) . . . But this kid didn't say a word . . . Finally, I looked in—everybody else was dressed but he wasn't nearly finished—and said, 'Like Grand Central station, eh' . . . and he replied slowly, 'Yes, it is.' . . .

Don Ingham of our shop says seat-belt sales jumped among the high school set here after Indianapolis driver Bob Velth said the straps spell "a-l-e-y" not "s-i-s-s-y" . . . Some senior citizens found Velth hard to unwind but when he preached politeness at the wheel to the jeans and upstart hairdo types they listened with both ears . . . Offenhauser, heavier and older than the rear-engine buggies, has a surprise in store for Indy in 1964 . . . Velth says designers John Huffaker (sports cars) and Jerry Bignotti (Offies) recently unveiled a rear-engine Offenhauser . . . "It wasn't broken in," Velth says, "but Len Sutton averaged 152 without trouble" . . . And whatever happened to Ed Kostenuk? . . .

Back from the South Sea Islands with a stopoff at Santa Anita is James Audain, the travelling author-sportsman . . . He denied rumors that he had bought either the Islands or Santa Anita but confirmed a report that he may send his stallion Supreme Verdict to permanent court on the mainland . . . "For some reason," Audain says, "there is an antipathy by mainland horsemen to send mares here. They seem to think it's like sending a mare to China" . . . Supreme Verdict was bred to six mares last year including Don Carley's old favorite Jane Grey who later died . . . Supreme Verdict's first foals are due in March . . . If Vancouver horsemen pass up Island studs they are missing some good bets . . . Splendid, Grey Skies, Consider 2nd, Times Scarce here and Allihai's Shadow at Nanaimo have excellent credentials . . . And did you notice that Pretty Eyes, who couldn't cut it at Exhibition Park last summer, won first crack out of the box at Santa Anita? . . .

There must have been some red faces in Montreal over the refusal by Canadiens' player personnel director Sam Pollock to release any young Habitants to the Canadian Olympic team . . . Pollock was yelling "no dice" even before Fr. David Bauer asked for Yvon Cournoyer, the junior Habs' scoring star . . . Later Fr. Bauer said he hadn't officially asked for Cournoyer and probably wouldn't let it hurt his team's morale . . . Then Montreal general manager Frank Selke Sr. took the microphone and said, presumably without asking Pollock's permission, that Canadiens would release anybody Fr. Bauer wanted, anytime he asked . . . And then there was the boy at one of the Olympians' first practices who told Fr. Bauer bluntly, "I can't play with anything but a 'Northland stick' . . . Without a trace of emotion, Fr. Bauer replied, "I'll see what I can do" . . . He disappeared, came back with three sticks . . . He handed them to the boy who looked up slowly and said, "Father, I'll play with any stick you want me to." . . . Then he handed two back, both with the brand name planed off and took his stick, also planed, and skated away . . .

Big M Sparkles As Torontonians Belt Canadiens

By The Canadian Press

Punch Imlach has no peer when it comes to making predictions that don't even come close. But this may be his year.

The outspoken Toronto Maple Leafs coach began his forecasting this season by saying Montreal would miss the playoffs. Then he predicted Chicago would win the National Hockey League pennant in a walk.

That was 1963, however. This is a new year and time to trade in old prognostications.

Imlach now believes his Leafs will win the NHL title, leaving second place to Montreal and third spot to Chicago. After the events of the last few days, he deserves at least a hearing.

The Leafs backed up their chief Saturday with a 3-0 whipping of Chicago and Wednesday night humiliated the Canadiens 6-1. The Leafs did everything right, the Canadiens everything wrong.

IMLACH BEAMING

"You guys tell me about the game," a beaming Imlach told reporters after the one-sided clash in Toronto. "Let me interview you. After all, I've said everything before. After last Saturday's game, when we beat Chicago 3-0 I told you if the Leafs play as a team they'll finish first. And they did to-night. The defence was tremendous."

He had praise for left winger Frank Mahovlich, saying that his current scoring streak (10 points in four games) "could carry us into first place."

Mahovlich broke up a close 1-1 game early in the second period on a spectacular play. He knifed between Canadiens Gilles Tremblay and Jacques Laperriere, giving away the puck and taking it back twice, and fooling Charlie Hodge with a bullet drive.

The Leafs erupted for two more goals in the middle frame and two markers in the final period, thrilling a crowd of 14,036 and moving into a second-place tie with Montreal with a game in hand, three points behind Chicago.

Mahovlich helped set up three goals to move into sixth place in the scoring race with 38 points. He picked up assists on Red Kelly's opener in the first period and goals by Carl Brewer and Jim Pappin the third.

Dave Keon got his 12th of the season and Bob Pulford snapped a personal 15-game scoreless streak with his ninth in the second period.

'MEET MY ROUNDHOUSE RIGHT ...'

A balled fist attached to New York Knickerbockers' No. 23 Jim Hoover arouses some emotion on the face of Los Angeles Lakers' No. 20 Don Nelson. Hoover did most of the throwing and Nelson the catching in brawl that triggered five-minute interruption in National Basketball Association game at Los Angeles Wednesday night. Nelson needed three stitches for mouth gash, got them long before LA won 136-118 as he and three others were ejected. (AP Wirephoto.)

BEANTOWNERS ANXIOUS TO DEAL FOR WORSLEY

QUEBEC (CP)—Boston's slump-ridden Bruins are trying to land Gump Worsley in a goaltending swap for Eddie Johnston, it was learned Wednesday.

Lynn Patrick, vice-president and manager of the National Hockey League club, left Quebec prematurely early Wednesday to return to Boston before concluding any deal.

But he said before his departure that both he and coach Milt Schmidt are dissatisfied with Johnston's work and would like to deal him off for Worsley, traded to Montreal by New York Rangers in the off-season.

Charlie Hodge performed so well after the Gump was injured, Worsley has been unable to crack his way back into the lineup and was sent to Quebec Aces of the American League, ostensibly to work himself into condition.

That was last November, and he's still there.

SAVE $200,000 A DAY

Strikers Seeking Change in Dates

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Leaders of striking Santa Anita Park employees asked the state Wednesday to give Santa Anita's racing dates to another track.

That way, a union spokesman said, the state wouldn't keep losing $200,000 a day in racing revenue.

But a Santa Anita official said the idea won't work. He said union proposals rejected by Santa Anita also would be turned down by other California tracks.

The union said it made the request "in view of the fact that Santa Anita officials have stated they may go out of business and convert the property to shopping and apartment house use."

THINKING IT OVER

Santa Anita president Robert P. Straub said Tuesday that the track is thinking of going out of the racing business and using its valuable 400-acre site for commercial developments.

Negotiations broke down Monday. Issues still unresolved included the union proposal that the track provide health and welfare coverage for retired employees. Wages are not a main issue.

The strike involves about 1,000 pari-mutuel clerks, admission tickets takers, ushers and janitors. Also affected are about 1,500 other track employees not affiliated with the Building Service Union.

DEMPSEY ANSWERS 'LOADED GLOVE' CHARGES

'I Wasn't That Stupid'

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)—Former heavyweight boxing champion Jess Willard and the members of the late Jack (Doc) Kearns each claimed Wednesday that Jack Dempsey used loaded gloves to win the title from Willard in 1919.

But Dempsey called the charges "ridiculous—a lot of hokum" and detailed why he believes his gloves could not have been loaded with plaster of paris.

BELINGHAM VISITS

Haidas' Interest Spans the Strait

The furrows of concern on Neil Sprinkling's brow will grow a little deeper this weekend.

His Haida Chiefs will be in action—against an all-star Bellingham team at Central Junior High Saturday—but it is other Intercity Basketball League action that has Neil fluttering.

Vancouver Bakers, still with- in reaching distance of Chiefs, can pull even with two week-end victories over IGA. Such a situation would lead fourth and final playoff berth open to the winner of a Bakers-Chiefs battle in Vancouver Jan. 19.

Sprinkling also has an interest in the Alberni-North Shore weekend set at Alberni. First place is the issue and Alberni is Sprinkling's preference. If Alberni makes it and the Chiefs make fourth, the two teams would meet in a best-of-five Island playoff economical to produce and almost assuredly revenue-producing.

Meanwhile there is this business with Bellingham . . .

The All-Stars are a potpourri of people from Western Washington, University of Oregon and Skagit Valley Junior College. They can put a team av-

Lone Bettor Beats Races For $54,000

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A single bettor in the crowd of 9,852 at Tropical Park Wednesday took down the entire twin-double pool—$54,789.20. It was the biggest twin-double payoff of the meeting, topping the previous high of $50,678 Dec. 27.

The ticket was cashed by a man who filled out an income tax form at the cashier's window as required, and requested that he not be publicly identified.

The first half of the twin—the fifth and sixth races—was won by Jury Duty, $43.20, and Fireman's Ball, $17.20. After another longshot, Traffic Siren, $40.20, won the eighth race, only three tickets were alive going into the last part of the twin. In a driving finish, More caught Arc Flash in the final strides to win by one length. The entry paid $39.60.

Finley Defies Cronin

Tells AL Boss To Button Lip

CHICAGO (UPI) — Charles O. Finley defied American League president Joe Cronin today and said he believed other club owners would authorize him to move his Athletics franchise from Kansas City to Louisville.

Finley blasted Cronin for making "public Wednesday an order to him to refrain from making "any further arrangements" for the transfer and "await the determination of the American League concerning the matter."

Cronin has called a meeting of the league's board of directors—representatives from Cleveland, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York and Boston—for January 16 in New York and has ordered a league meeting the same day, obviously to consider Finley's situation.

The outspoken insurance man has been in dispute with Kansas City over his lease on Municipal Stadium, now expired, since spring. Earlier this week he signed a contract for the A's to play in Louisville in 1964 and 1965.

'UNFAIR' TO FANS

The contract announcement inspired Cronin's telegram, which said also that he considered Finley's activities "unfair" to the Kansas City fans and that it could "result in disillusionment for the baseball public of Louisville."

Cronin's message was released for publication and Finley exploded.

"I consider your releasing to the press the telegram which you sent me this morning very unfair and unethical," he wired Cronin.

"As an owner in the American League, I will expect any future communications from you to be kept private and not released for publication without my personal approval."

CONFIDENT OF SUPPORT

"I suggest that you as president of the American League refrain from any further public statements until you for the first time have had an opportunity to be presented with the true and complete facts."

Finley said he had no need to make other arrangements to transfer the Athletics franchise since "my arrangements have been completed."

"I'm not at liberty to discuss a contract with Kansas City," he added.

Finley said he was confident that the required seven of the 10 league owners would grant his request to move once they know of his situation.

Cats That Come, Come Out to Play ...

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY

I like to play the "point" when we have a man advantage because of a penalty to the opposition. I like that position because the play is in front of you.

If you watch some youngsters play, you'll find the defencemen always look a little better at carrying the puck. That's because they have the full view of the play right in front of them.

Often you may notice a wingman driving in to fight for the puck, and on a power play with his back to the play most of the time he seems to be lost.

Playing the point, you have the play in front of you at all times. It gives you an opportunity to work out different plays, by having a fellow player go to a certain predetermined position. I believe playing the point doesn't involve as much skating. Maybe I'm crazy.

Again, if I'm playing the point, the opposition on occasion has put a man back there to cover me. That gives us five against their three, which is bad for them.

If they play the square, box-type defence against the power play, they'll place a defenceman off each side of the net and two players out towards the blue line. Then there's a man on you at all times.

However, if I'm playing up in front on the power and roving play, I find sometimes I'm not as effective as I am back on the point.

Being able to take a hard pass and give a hard pass is important for anyone playing on the point on the power play.

Here again, it is a matter of having full control of your stick at all times.

Spending of control, I remember when Bronco Horvath had a great year with Boston several seasons back. He credited it to exercises he had done the previous summer to strengthen his wrists, his grip and his control.

Combination League Cards Four Matches

Four games are scheduled this weekend in the Combination Soccer League.

On Saturday at 10 a.m., Royal Roads faces Victoria Rangers at Royal Roads and Firefighters meet Island Tug at HMCS Naden.

In 2 p.m. tussle, Navy and Melahat tangle at Naden.

Royal Roads and Navy will be back Sunday, clashing at 2 at Royal Roads.

Each of the four undefeated sides, however, have had perfect records spoiled by the games.

They are Gyros of Division II, Cosmopolitan Royals of Division III, Canadian Scottish of Division IV and Boys' Club Red in Division VI.

Maroons Lose Coach

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—Former National Hockey League star Gus Morton Monday resigned as coach of Chatham Maroons of the International League.

Coach Johnny Bond seems to be having difficulty in getting all of Victoria's best juniors to come out. Those that come, however, come to play.

A case in point is the line of Paul Bion, Don Wilson and Les Johansen.

Wilson, the league's leading sniper, scored three times Wednesday night and Johansen added the other pair as Arena Cougars upset the front-running Safeway Canadians 5-1.

Cats' win sliced Canadians' lead atop the Victoria Hockey League standings to a mere two points.

Cougars, getting solid goaltending from Ed Hastings, did it the hard way—without such front-line regulars as Wayne Anderson, Bob Buie and Glen Robertson.

The Bion-Wilson-Johansen line now has accounted for 36 of Cougars' 53 goals.

In the opener of the weekly doubleheader at Memorial Arena, Eddie Dorohoy had a big night. But it didn't help third-place Suburban Mercuries, who dropped a 5-4 verdict to Dorman Cavaliers.

Dorohoy set up the first Mercury goal and scored the last three. Mercuries' hopes for a last-minute assault for the tying goal went out when Dorohoy was assessed a misconduct and then a game misconduct for arguing with the referees.

Dorohoy was slapped with the misconduct when he skated to the timekeeper's box to inquire about time left in the game.

Bob Anderson also scored three times to spark the last-place Dorman.

Time to Gallop On 'Pony Night'

It's "Pony Night", and this is the time Victoria's Cougars hope to gallop into first place in the Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League.

Cougars entertain New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena tonight at 8. Victoria trails the front-running Royals by one point. Both have played nine games.

The fight for first will draw the largest crowd of the season. That much is assured through promotion of the second annual "Pony Night". Tickets for the game have been available to all youngsters through the co-operation of city business firms. One lucky youngster will leave the game with pony.

An added sidelight to the game is the scoring duel between a pair of Royals and Cougars: Don Wilson, Warren Hicks and Leroy Mowery share the lead with 16 points, two more than Wilson.

LUCK OF DRAW decided which 4-H Club members would visit nine other provinces as part of a summer exchange program in July. Making selection are, left to right, deputy agriculture minister Alex Turner; Sig. Peterson, provincial supervisor of 4-H Clubs; Gordon Landon, president of the Canadian Council of 4-H Clubs, and Agriculture Minister Frank Richter.

VISITS TO OTHER PROVINCES

4-H Leaders Win Trips

Two local teenagers are among a lucky nine who will spend two weeks in other provinces this summer as a reward for outstanding work in 4-H farm clubs.

The nine each were allocated a province to visit in a draw conducted Wednesday by Agriculture Minister Frank Richter.

Seventeen-year-old Linnet Lannon, of 820 Birch Road, Sidney, is going to Newfoundland.

Albert Hull, 19, of RR#6, Langford, has won a trip to Alberta.

They will take part in an interprovincial exchange program financed by the Royal Bank of Canada.

The program was started last year to mark the 50th anniversary of the 4-H movement.

DELIGHTED

"We were delighted that the Royal Bank decided to continue its assistance," said Sig. Peterson, provincial 4-H supervisor.

The exchanges will take place sometime in July, he said.

The young people will visit farms and attend 4-H activities in the other provinces. B.C. will be host to nine 4-H members from the provinces.

The B.C. nine were chosen last year at the annual 4-H club week competition in New Denver.

The other seven winners: Karen Oland, of Courtenay, going to Quebec; Linda Vonnarx, also Courtenay, bound for Nova Scotia; Jean Blair, Langley, to New Brunswick; Jim Burbee, Dawson Creek, to Saskatchewan; Brian Bachr, Cloverdale, to Manitoba; Sharr Malisaukas, Port Kells, to Ontario, and Leslie Cochran, Sardis, to Prince Edward Island.

Canada Steamship Sets Stock Split

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada Steamship Lines Ltd. has announced the company's preferred and common stock will be split two-for-one.

A $1 dividend on common shares was declared at a board of directors meeting, compared with last year's 50-cent dividend. The $1 dividend rate will be maintained on the new shares after the split.

Both proposals — the share split and the dividend increase — are subject to shareholder approval and the bylaws will be submitted at a special general meeting in April.

MEAN THIEF STRIKES AT HOSPITAL

The "world's meanest thief" broke into a Gift Shop at Royal Jubilee Hospital overnight Tuesday and stole money that was to be used to help patients.

George Masters, hospital administrator, said $88 is missing from the office of the hospital's notions shop. The shop in the lobby of the Jubilee's new west wing is operated by Junior Auxiliary Volunteers.

Proceeds of the store go to help patients, said Mr. Masters, and the person who stole the cash is the "world's meanest thief" in his opinion.

Entry was made by cutting a screen from an unlocked window.

Elevator Expansion Knocked by Richter

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter Wednesday threw cold water on pleas to expand Victoria's grain shipping facilities. He said he would prefer federal government aid for new facilities on the lower mainland.

Mr. Richter suggested three ports that could be used: Port Moody, Squamish or Vancouver.

He said it would "seem a little strange" to ship grain by barge to Vancouver Island for export from Victoria, when it would be easier to establish a direct route from the mainland.

Mr. Richter said the provincial government had pressed hard for Squamish with the 1962 Conservative government at Ottawa.

No approaches have been made yet to the Liberals, but

Mr. Richter said B.C. is still anxious to improve grain handling facilities.

Mr. Richter said he has approached the present government for aid in a proposed system of feed grain pools across the province, one of which at least should be on Vancouver Island.

A series of storage areas would stockpile feed in bulk for sale at low prices in small lots to farmers.

At present, Mr. Richter said, B.C. farmers have to pay high prices for feed grain because they can't afford to buy in bulk.

The facts about new air fares and cargo rates to Europe, effective April 1st, 1964. What these new rates will mean to you.

All north-Atlantic carriers have agreed in principal on a new, lower fare structure to and from Europe, subject to Industry and Government approval. Because all air fares are standardized by international agreement, these new rates are applicable on a per destination basis to all airlines crossing the north-Atlantic. If you are planning to fly to Europe during 1964—either on business or pleasure, one or other of the fare categories outlined below will enable you to realize considerable savings on your air fare over the north-Atlantic. Read on for further details, then ask your Travel Agent for full information, or complete coupon below.

ECONOMY CLASS FARES

From April 1st, 1964 onwards, new, reduced Economy Class fares will be in effect throughout the year. These new Economy Class fares will enable you to fly from Montreal to Paris, for example, for as little as $233.60 one way, or $443.70 return. These rates also permit you to visit Amsterdam, Brussels and London at no additional air fare. During the peak travel periods, (Eastbound—May 22nd through August 3rd; Westbound—July 17th through September 28th) these fares will be slightly higher, but still below previous Economy Class fares.

21-DAY EXCURSION FARES

21-Day Excursion Fares will remain valid during certain periods of the summer, 1964, at new, low rates that enable you to save over $50.00 on previous 21-day fares. A 21-Day Excursion Fare to Paris, for instance, will now only cost $346.90 return. This rate also allows you to visit Amsterdam, Brussels and London at no additional air fare. Under this plan, you are, however, subject to the following travel stipulations: you cannot return from your overseas gateway earlier than the 14th day after your trans-Atlantic flight, and all travel must be completed by midnight on the 21st day after your date of departure. Because these 21-Day Excursion Fares are restricted to certain days and periods, and to get the best advantage of KLM's multi-city stopover plan, have your Travel Agent help you select the most attractive dates and destination for your 21-Day European vacations. Or call KLM.

KLM'S MULTI-STOPOVER PLAN

For the standard round trip fare between Canada and any city in Europe, KLM lets you visit many additional cities at no extra air fare. In this way, you can stretch your itinerary without stretching your budget. KLM gives you the privilege of city-hopping to a wide choice of extra places, depending on your destination and from where you fly in Canada. And, thanks to KLM's extensive European network—over 40 cities—you have an almost unlimited choice of combinations. Here is one example of how KLM's Multi-Stopover Plan lets you visit 13 additional cities for the price of your standard round-trip fare between Canada and Munich. For no additional air fare, you can also visit Amsterdam, Bremen, Brussels, Cologne, Copenhagen, Düsseldorf, Frankfurt, Hamburg, Hanover, London, Nuremberg, Paris, and Stuttgart!

GROUP TRAVEL DISCOUNTS

During the months of June, July, August and September, 1964, Group Travel Discounts will again be available to members in good standing of eligible organizations. Groups must comprise 25 or more members travelling together. The group fare, per person, from Montreal to Paris, for example, will be $362.20 return. And, as before, multi-stopover privileges permitting group visits to Amsterdam, Brussels and London at no additional air fare are again extended. To learn whether your organization is eligible for special group rates and on which dates these special rates apply, see your Travel Agent or call KLM.

CARGO RATES

New air cargo rates commencing April 1st, 1964, and subject to the approval of interested governments, involve reductions of up to 20% at various weights on many commodities comprising the major volume of trans-Atlantic air cargo traffic. The agreement also includes a variety of specially low rates designed to stimulate new traffic and afford the advantages of air transportation on a regular, economical basis to shippers and importers of many commodities currently being moved by air in only limited quantities. In addition, some experimental rates at low levels are being directed at specific markets.

Here are a few examples of commodities favourably affected by the new, reduced air cargo rates (based on Montreal-London tariffs): machines and tools of numerous types, most of which were previously carried at general cargo rates; radios, TV sets, electrical appliances, parts; manufactured textile products; chemicals; removals of household goods and personal effects.

FIRST CLASS FARES

As of April 1st, 1964, first class air fares will be appreciably reduced. This reduction will be of particular benefit to businessmen who appreciate the additional advantages of first class air travel—the higher free baggage allowance of 66 lbs., roomier, more relaxing accommodation and free bar service, superlative cuisine, KLM's traditionally superb service. Flying first class from Montreal to Paris will only cost $414.10 one way and $786.80 round trip—a saving of over $200.00 over previous first class round trip air fares!

YOUR TRAVEL AGENT

Your Travel Agent will help you with all your travel arrangements. He is a specialist. He knows fares, rates, hotels, tours, documents, currencies better than anyone. And all the odd little details. His experience can make a world of difference to your trip. And, as professionals in air transportation for more than forty years, KLM recognize that it takes professionals to plan trips efficiently. That is why that in every city in Canada, KLM is represented by a professional—your Travel Agent. See him soon.

Canada Profits On British Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's trade surplus with Britain has ballooned so big, so quickly, that it now almost covers this country's traditional huge deficit with the United States. Figures released Wednesday

Uvic Names To Honor Educators

The late Percy H. Elliott will head a list of Victoria educational figures to be honored in the naming of University of Victoria facilities.

The name of the former principal of Victoria College will be given to the science building on Gordon Head campus.

Elliott Building will be opened at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 1 as an open-house highlight.

Professor Elliott, who died in 1943, had been with the college since 1908. He began as a lecturer in physics and chemistry. He became principal in 1927, and served longer than any other principal.

McPHERSON WAY

The road encircling the heart of the campus will become McPherson Way, in honor of the late Thomas McPherson, a generous contributor to the university development fund.

Another long-time member of the Victoria College chemistry department, the late Edward J. Savannah will have his name given to the analytical chemistry laboratory in the Elliott Building.

When construction of the life sciences (botany and zoology) building is completed, it will be named for Jeffrey A. Cunningham, professor emeritus of zoology.

Excavations for the first women's residence at Uvic started Monday, and carpenters are at work on foundations. Excavations for the second residence start this week.

Farmer Construction Company, which won the contract, expects to finish under the 410-day time limit.

Optometrists 'Want In' Medical Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Optometrists have joined the queue of critics attacking Ontario's draft medical insurance plan on the ground that it is too restricted.

The Optometrical Association of Ontario and the College of Optometry in Toronto protested specifically against the exclusion of their services from the plan.

They appealed in separate briefs to the government-appointed medical services insurance inquiry to include optometry as one of the services to be covered under the standard medical plan outlined in draft legislation setting up the voluntary insurance program.

for the first 11 months of 1963 show a Canadian deficit with the U.S. of $500,900,000. All but $15,200,000 was covered by the $485,700,000 surplus on trade with the United Kingdom.

With Canada also earning larger surpluses in other overseas markets, the over-all excess of exports over imports in the first 11 months was $319,600,000—15 times bigger than the $21,300,000 surplus for the same period of 1962.

This sharp improvement was due partly to a continuing surge of exports, accelerating late in 1963 with large grain shipments to the Soviet bloc. Exports in the 11 months were 8.3 per cent higher than a year earlier. In November alone the gain was 14 per cent.

IMPORTS RISE TOO

Meanwhile, imports also were rising quickly to meet the higher consumer demand at home. Though the cumulative 11-month figures show 1963 imports ahead by only 3.2 per cent, they increased 11.7 per cent in November and imports from the U.S. that month were 9.6-per-cent higher.

Trade Minister Sharp, who forecast recently a "quite substantial increase" in Canada's exports in 1964, also cautioned that mounting domestic demand also could bring a resurgence of imports—straining the balance of payments—unless the export position is even further improved.

It was largely on the strength of the higher commodity trade surplus this year that Finance Minister Gordon predicted Monday that end-of-1963 figures would give Canada a balance

New Link To Cancer Cigarettes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Cancer Society issued a documentary report today stating that 15 years of medical research have proved that cigarettes are "the major cause of the unprecedented increase in lung cancer."

The 13-page report, issued in anticipation of the Saturday report on smoking to be issued by the U.S. Public Health Service, traced the history of lung cancer research through 25 studies in 10 countries. It said the society's research and the studies of other organizations "developed evidence that lung cancer was linked to cigarette smoking."

"The society felt from the start that while smoking is a matter of individual choice the people should know the hazards inherent in cigarette smoking," the report said.

Another report, issued by the Tobacco Institute, took the view that the American Cancer Society's charge has not been proved. It suggested that "previous lung ailments" and viruses probably are involved in the development of lung cancer.

Crisis? Rush To Supermarket

If there is an international crisis, B.C.'s supermarkets will come to the rescue, civil defence officials hope.

They have told municipalities to rush down to the nearest grocery and buy stocks of emergency food for key officials.

"They would have half an hour or an hour anyway," said provincial civil defence coordinator J. F. A. Lister.

LISTS READY

The shopping lists are all prepared and the municipalities have been told to prepare an advance purchase order. Meanwhile they have been authorized to go ahead and buy knives, forks, spoons and plates.

The plan was devised to replace a suggestion from Ottawa that food stockpiles be prepared now.

Federal, provincial and municipal governments would share the cost.

"Our nutritionists came up with other ideas," Mr. Lister said.

They considered that food stored now might perish and that it would just clutter up city hall basements and provide storage problems.

THREE SQUARES

The food would provide three meals a day for up to 75 key officials over 14 days in the largest municipalities.

"Fourteen days is the maximum period the people in Ottawa and the army think people might have to stay under shelter," Mr. Lister said.

"We have suggested the municipalities can buy the utensils now and they will be reimbursed."

"We also suggested they prepare a purchase order, then in the event of a national or provincial disaster they rush down to the nearest supermarket."

Mr. Lister suggested some municipalities might like to do this if there were another Cuba crisis.

The food would include canned juice, meat and vegetables, cereals and cookies.

BRIGHT CITY LIGHTS BLAMED IN SHIP CRASH

OTTAWA (CP)—A collision between two freighters in Vancouver harbor Nov. 27 occurred largely because the crew of one of the vessels couldn't distinguish between the lights of the city and the other ship, a transport department inquiry has shown.

Findings of the preliminary inquiry, made public today, indicate that sailors navigating the Greek freighter Evie could not tell the difference between the lights of Vancouver and the Irish freighter Irish Rowan.

Damage was caused to both ships but no one was injured.

FLQ Informer Paid $10,000 By Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—The city of Montreal has paid $10,000 to an informer whose information brought about the arrest and conviction of Font de Libération Quebecois terrorists.

Montreal Police Director Adrien Robert said today the identity of the informer will remain secret and that he had no knowledge of any money being paid by the Quebec Government, which had offered a $50,000 reward.

Both amounts had been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the time-bomb killing last April of Wilfred Vincent O'Neill, 65. The victim, a furnace tender at an army recruiting centre in Montreal, was killed when the bomb went off at the rear of the building.

The FLQ was blamed for a three-month-long series of bombings which ended May 20 with a bomb blast outside a Montreal armory.

Aid Totals $35 Million

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters)—Skopje, destroyed by an earthquake last July received cash and material aid worth more than $35,000,000 up to January, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug says. More than $14,000,000 came from 73 countries, while Yugoslav sources gave $21,000,000.

Abortion Boards Urged by Lawyer

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Crown Attorney Bruce Affleck suggested Wednesday that boards should be set up in the provinces to rule on applications for abortions.

Dr. Kidd Speaks On Contamination For CD Course

Twenty-three British Columbians will study nuclear physics and radiation detection at the Keating Cross Road Civil Defence College next week.

They will get lectures on prevention of contamination of food from Dr. A. Kidd, chief of the agriculture department's livestock branch.

After the week-long course which starts Jan. 13, the students will return to local civil defence zones to give talks on what they learned.

SWAP ANYTHING Trade, Books, Guns, TV's, Furniture, Presses, Anything! TELMAC NO MONEY DOWN board might include a lawyer, a gynecologist and a psychiatrist. He said the boards could be established in each province by the federal government.

"Not as many doctors are performing illegal abortions as many people think," he said. "In some cases, housewives are out to make an extra dollar." The crown attorney was one of a panel of six discussing a resolution from the University Women's Club of New Westminster requesting a broadening of the Criminal Code to allow abortions under special circumstances. The panel was sponsored by the women's club of Oshawa and district.

Mr. Affleck said an abortion mill existed in Ontario's Pickering township last year. Conditions were unsanitary and woefully bad. He estimated that 40 married women who were aborted there did not want the added strain and expense of another child.

Bernard Lewis, a Children's Aid Society director, said a large number of children were being deprived of affection because parents did not want them in the first place.

Mr. Lewis did not think the resolution being discussed was in fact broad enough in scope. It would make abortions legal when conception was the result of a sexual offence, when the physical and mental health of the mother was in jeopardy, or when evidence indicated the child would suffer severe mental or physical defects.

BLUMBERG ... no beds at all

Automation Promises Gay Nurses

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP)—Automation of almost everything except nurses will mark the hospital of the future, says a health economist. And cheerful nurses, relieved of drudgery by electronic slaves, will have more time for patients.

Each patient will have a small but private room. His bed, which may not resemble a bed at all, will supply an individual climate the way an incubator does for a premature baby.

Electronic devices will monitor his condition when needed. The sleeping pill will be replaced by a weak electric current flowing through his head at bedtime.

There'll be spray-on dressings, disposable garments and single-dose packed medications. The automated hospital will house almost all patients under a doctor's care, further reducing home visits. The patients may be grouped in the hospital by type of illness rather than degree to receive specialized nursing care.

This broad picture, with variations, is sketched by Dr. Mark S. Blumberg, senior health economist of the Stanford Research Institute. The physician-economist began research into hospital operation about five years ago.

"Our research teams are looking ahead only about five years, not into an indefinite future," Dr. Blumberg says.

WHISKY KILLS TWO-YEAR-OLD

WALSALL, Eng. (Reuters)—A two-year-old child has died in hospital here four days after drinking nearly half a bottle of whisky at her home. An inquest on Patricia Ann Sharratt was told Tuesday she suffered from an abnormal thirst ever since having pneumonia at the age of two months but she was never given alcohol.

Polyglot Radio Urged For Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Donald MacDonald, leader of the New Democratic Party in Ontario, said Wednesday the CBC should make the Toronto radio station CJBC a multi-language station rather than a purely French one.

This would end resentment over the changeover and would meet a great need in communications, he said in a statement. He said the CBC has a good point in claiming it could not justify CJBC as a duplicate English radio outlet in Toronto. It has an English-language network station in CBL.

In addition to 61,000 persons in greater Toronto who speak French, there are 58,000 who speak Polish, 70,000 who speak Ukrainian, 80,000 German and 140,000 Italian, he said.

The CBC plans to complete the CJBC changeover by late 1964.

Fund Drive Under Way For Centre

A public appeal for $65,000 towards the planned senior citizens' recreation centre in Centennial Square got under way Wednesday.

Silver Threads Service chairman Owen Karn told a gathering of representatives from the armed forces, the church, civic groups, clubs and societies that the three-year-old centre on Broughton Street was obviously overcrowded.

"You see inadequacy everywhere," he said.

EQUAL GRANTS

The new centre will be financed by equal donations of $65,000 from the provincial government, city hall and public subscription.

It will provide complete recreational facilities for every senior citizen in Victoria. It adjoins Centennial Square.

"There will be convenient benches, a fountain, and it will be on bus routes," said Mayor Wilson. "We think the location is ideal."

CENTRE NEEDED

"The square will be ready for construction by mid-summer. We hope the subscription will have raised the necessary $65,000 by fall."

Mr. Karn said original surveys made by City Welfare Council in 1957 showed that a recreation centre was necessary.

"Older people were on the increase, and medical science was saying that inactivity and lack of interest were the main things causing older people to deteriorate more rapidly," he said.

"The economy of our community is dependent on these people. They spend a lot of money. Healthy and happy people raise the standards of a community. Sick and infirm people increase the expense."

"We desire senior citizens in our community."

CENTENARY

Cities' War Shapes Up On Culture

The provincial government is afraid to start a war between cities for a $5,000,000 cultural centre but it may be difficult to avoid.

"We don't want any controversy," said deputy provincial secretary L. J. Wallace, head of B.C.'s Canadian Confederation Centenary Board.

The cultural centre will be a joint federal-provincial project for the 1967 centenary.

Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson has already staked a claim.

Vancouver already has the Queen Elizabeth Theatre, he argued. In addition, he said he felt the capital city should be the site of the building.

Advocates of a Pacific Trade Centre in Vancouver have proposed it for the centennial project, but it would cost $10,000,000.

Mr. Wallace said Ottawa has agreed to pay up to $2,500,000 provided this is not more than 50 per cent of the project. B.C. could increase its share if it wanted, he added.

The project has to receive federal approval.

Mr. Wallace said B.C. is awaiting a letter from Ottawa outlining details, including the type of cultural centre which can be built.

B.C. has not decided what to build and no statement will be made until it does, he added.

Costa Rica Combats Volcano

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—A hastily-created national commission sought ways Tuesday to deal with eruptions of Irazu volcano which are destroying crops and burying large areas under volcanic ash.

Officials said 90 per cent of the current tobacco crop has been destroyed. They said that up to two pounds of ash a square yard has been deposited on Costa Rica's central plateau, including this capital city of 250,000 people 30 miles from the volcano.

At times in the last 10 months the ash cloud has been so heavy that people have walked the streets here with cellophane bags over their heads or handkerchiefs held to their faces.

Arthur Mayse

I think it's all wrong that publisher Roy Thomson should expect to keep while accepting a British hereditary title.

So, apparently, does Prime Minister Pearson, who hasn't let himself be moved by the tear-jerking eloquence with which Baron designate Thomson presses his bid for special privilege.

Let him latch on to the title if that's his wish... but not, say I, as a citizen of a New World country which has turned its face away from such trappings.

It was not until 1935 that we finally rid ourselves of this distasteful nonsense of English titles for Canadians. This was done under the late W. L. Mackenzie King's Liberal government, after a false start by an earlier political regime.

Since that year, even though the title has been argued, connived and belied against by those who feel their importance rates more than our universal "mister," no government has seen fit to bring the sign-manual of vested privilege back to Canadian soil.

I hope most fervently that none ever will, not even to make Roy Thomson happy. This wish, I think, is shared by most Canadians.

There are two ideals to which we on this side of the water cling, even though there are times when we pay them no more than lip service, and may never realize them in fact.

One is the noble American hypothesis of the equality of man.

Observation and common sense tells us this is a fairy-tale; that the laws of heredity reduce it to wishful thinking, and that life disproves it every minute of the day.

But abandon it? Accept the view that men are not born equal? Do that and we are launched at once on a downgrade, the gains of our fathers traded for a creed of serf and master, gentleman and commoner.

Do you want that creed back? Would you be happy to accept a station in life fixed that publisher Roy Thomson should expect to keep his Canadian citizenship hereditary title.

by the accident of birth? I wouldn't! The mere thought makes me growl.

We maintain also the fiction of a society free from class distinction. When I urge that we continue to preserve this, I am not being hypocritical. There are signs that the fiction may one day become fact. The time is past when the cheapest white-collar man could regard himself as superior to the skilled artisan.

We are on our way toward hammering out a social order based on demonstrated merit. Why, then, confuse a clear issue by fetching back upon the Canadian scene the hereditary title which is the mainspring of class distinction?

I have no quarrel with the English way — not, at least, while it remains within the confines of its island. The English are an older race than we, and have learned to abide their gentry with a certain cynical humor.

Intelligent Englishmen I've encountered respect and like the Royal Family. This respect carries over to the old houses, the titles rich in tradition, and the honors won by great deeds. But for the political title, the bought entry into the peerage, our cousins have no respect whatever.

We are young here to fall into a settled cynicism. Better, I think, to reward our men and women of achievement by methods other than a title which may pass from worthy father to mediocre son and worthless grandson.

It seems to me that the Canada Council Medal, which we have heard strangely little about since 1961 — should be sufficient symbol of recognition for anyone in this democratic land.

But let's keep the titles out, even if to do so we must rob poor Roy Thomson of the Canadian citizenship which he obviously values less than his shiny new place among England's peers.

DRIVERS WENT TO HOSPITAL from this collision at about 1 a.m. at Burnside and Tillicum. W. B. Harvey, Thetis Lake Road, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital with face injuries. Robert Lacey, 2651 Mt. Stephen, had a cut elbow. Saanich police said the collision occurred in the intersection when one car went north on Tillicum, the other east on Burnside. Both cars are write-offs.

Film, Record On Sex Given Parents' Okay

Use of a film and tape recording on sex education was endorsed Wednesday night by members of Belmont High School Association, in Sooke School District.

The next meeting of the association will be asked to urge use of the media — with a physician on hand to answer questions — in the school program.

Members saw the film Boy to Man, which explains puberty and a general idea of the reproductive system, and heard a 50-minute recording of a lecture given by a doctor to a Chilliwack class, dealing with female adolescence.

There was some disagreement between parents over what would be the most suitable age for exposure to the material.

EARLIER PRESENTATION

The program is aimed at boys of 13-14, and girls slightly younger, but there was feeling that boys should be given the education earlier, perhaps at 11 years.

Mrs. Patricia Kahr, health education liaison officer, gave a brief talk, in which she favored children be given the lecture and film at the pre-teen age.

A spokesman said later Mrs. Kahr said "enthusiasm for the breakaway in sex education is extremely high in parents and children and she hoped it would lead to further advances in this field."

Interest in sex education in Sooke district 62, which adjoins Greater Victoria school district, was due partly to a program based on film and tape recording that is proposed for Victoria schools.

This program is ready to implement, pending expression of opinion by a panel of clergymen, and approval by the board of trustees.

Negligee Theft Costs Woman $50

A woman who shoplifted a $51 negligee from the T. Eaton department store Jan. 3 pleaded guilty in city police court today to theft.

Magistrate Ostler fined Jean Henderson, of Calgary, $50. Eaton's store detective Archibald Logan told the court the accused woman was seen in the lingerie department to pick the garment off a rack, fold it and put it in a bag.

She then left the store and was stopped at the door.

"Happy" is the mutt the TV shines on.

MUTTS UNLIMITED

Happy Days Ahead For Mr. Mixture?

By MONTE ROBERTS

Latest candidate for the muttiest mutt of all the mutts in Victoria is a weird collection of canine characteristics known to one and all as "Happy."

Known facts about Happy are these: He's nine months old, was obtained from the SPCA by 15-year-old Elly Voorsluys, 2 Gorge Road West, likes a bite of sharp cheese at bedtime, and is inclined to shed real tears when Elly leaves him at home.

Among the more uncertain facets of Happy's character are the ancestors claimed of him by Elly — namely, cocker spaniels and scottish terriers. Among men who know dogs best, there's a strong feeling about poodleism.

Be that as it may, Happy rates as a strong contender for an up-coming role in the Television series Petticoat Junction.

Dick Wesson, producer of the show, has decided to add a canine character, and will judge entries submitted by photograph to:

Mutts Unlimited, Victoria Times, Victoria, B.C.

The photos will be sent to Mr. Wesson in Hollywood, who will decide which, if any, of Victoria's mutts should be given a TV audition.

Well-Known Sheep Dog Disappears

One of B.C.'s finest working dogs has disappeared from his home in Metochin.

"Skip," a 60-pound, black and white, long-haired border collie known to thousands of Victoria Day parade watchers, has been missing for a week.

His owner, W. S. Dupree, today offered a "substantial" reward for the dog's safe return.

Anyone sighting Skip should contact Tim O'Toole, 4024 Metochin Road, GR 8-4596.

Mr. O'Toole, speaking for Mr. Dupree who is 83, said it is difficult to place a valuation on Skip, but he says the dog is worth well over $500.

FIVE YEARS OLD

Mr. Dupree has performed for several years in Victoria parades, herding sheep in company with three dogs from Michael Williams Boarding and Training Kennels. Gentle and highly trained, Skip is five years old.

The dog is also the companion of Mr. Dupree on his 350-acre Parry Lodge property and caretaker of 80 sheep and a herd of steers.

Mr. O'Toole said Mr. Dupree is "heartbroken." The owner believes the dog may have been tempted away by a female dog. But because the area contains several sheep ranches, there is fear he may be shot as a stray.

Inquests Set

An inquest will be held Friday morning at 10 in Sands Colwood funeral chapel for Mrs. May Preston, 1024 Hallsam, killed Oct. 29 in a collision at Trans-Canada and Helmcken.

Scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday at Hayward's is the inquest into the death of Mrs. Mary Ann Wain, 75, who died Tuesday night after she was in collision with a car while she walked on North Douglas near her home.

Jordan River Flood Threat Lessening

Embattled Cowichan Copper Co. crews today continued attempts to save their mine from further flooding and washout, while the threat of flooding at nearby Jordan River eased despite half an inch of overnight rain.

Engineers and miners succeeded in cutting a diversion channel for waters that surged to the surface from the flooded mine and carried thousands of dollars worth of mine property into the Jordan River Tuesday. The slide caused heavy silting downstream.

Company president Oswald G. MacDonald said crews had been unable to divert the new stream as hoped Wednesday, but he expected this would be done today.

At Jordan River, the fore-shore booming ground of Canadian Puget Sound Logging was still silt-filled, the company tug grounded by silt and the operation closed.

CHANNEL CLEAR

A spokesman said as long as the company is able to keep one channel clear the threat of flooding on the north bank of the river would not be so great — unless there is heavy rainfall.

He said he could not guess when a dredge could be used to clear out the booming ground and allow the logging operation to resume.

About 70 men are idle as a result of the booming shut-down.

MINE SHUT

A mile upstream at the mine, about 20 of the copper company's 125 miners are employed in diverting the two streams of the Jordan River which have effectively shut down mining.

The first stream entered the mine when an 80-foot-thick part of the river bed collapsed into a mined-out slope, filling the rest of the mine with water.

On Monday, this water flow had been plugged at the mine portal level by tons of timbers and debris from inside the mine, forcing the water upward through 250 feet of gravel.

LANDSLIDE

This water then surfaced and carried on down the mountainside to wash away more than 100,000 cubic yards of earth, trees, rocks and gravel. The landslide carried with it the timber staging, a machine shop, supplies and equipment stationed on two roads leading to the mine portal.

A crew blasted and bulldozed a 300-foot channel from the outflow to the riverbank to eliminate this hazard.

The first disaster to strike the mine occurred when the river gushed in Dec. 6.

CONCRETE PLUGS

Men are still working around the clock diverting the river for 500 feet from the original hole, which will then be separated from the river by a dike until miners can seal off levels inside the mine with concrete plugs.

This work is expected to be finished by next week or the following week, allowing the mine to be pumped dry and put back to work at month-end.

Mr. MacDonald said the copper ore refining mill which is located underground some 7,400 feet inside the portal, will be able to work when motors and switching gear are dried out.

Original efforts to halt the flow of river water by dumping gravel and car bodies into the bed were abandoned in favor of diverting the river.

GIVE FACILITIES

Help Ferry Customers BCAA Plea

A plea for services to weary and hungry motorists forced to wait for government ferries was made to the B.C. cabinet today.

Restaurants and washrooms should be built outside the inaccessible ferry compounds, the B.C. Automobile Association said.

Association officials made the suggestion in their annual brief, presented to a cabinet meeting here this morning.

"A considerable number of complaints have been received by our association concerning the inaccessibility of terminal facilities to motorists who are waiting for ferries at Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay," the brief said.

HOLIDAY CRISIS

The problem reached crisis proportions over the Christmas holiday period when motorists had to wait up to four hours for ferries.

Restaurants and washrooms are inside the wire compounds. At busy times when the enclosure is full and no more cars can pass the gates, latecomers outside the gates are "out of luck."

Foot passengers may pay their admission and go through the gates, but there is no system whereby a person can enter the compound, then be given a pass-out check which will give him readmission without fee when he returns with his car.

Persons meeting ferry passengers suffer the same inconveniences.

'LITTLE EXPENSE'

The automobile association said it would mean "little expense" to build facilities outside the compound.

It also reported complaints about motorists having to wait for trucks to get off the ferries, particularly at Horseshoe Bay.

"This means that automobiles are forced to remain behind trucks along the Upper Levels Highway unless they take the risk of passing."

PERMANENT PLATES

Another proposal was for a return of permanent license plates, dropped after three years in 1954.

The association said five year aluminum plates with renewable tabs for each year would mean a big saving.

This idea was dropped in 1954 because the motor vehicles branch found clerical costs of processing licences were more than the savings in metal.

Royal College Admitting Two Victoria Specialists

Two Victoria doctors — James Hebert Duxbury and Francis Dallos Milligan — have won recognition as specialists of urology and internal medicine respectively.

They will be admitted as fellows of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada at a convocation in Quebec next Thursday.

Dr. Duxbury, a native of Nanaimo, now practising in Victoria, has passed an examination in urology.

He was educated at John Shaw High School, Nanaimo, and the University of British Columbia and took his M. D. at McGill University, Montreal.

Dr. Milligan, 49 Tovey Crescent, View Royal, has passed an examination in internal medicine. Raised in Victoria, he was educated at St. Louis College and graduated in medicine at the Johns Hopkins University school of medicine, Baltimore, Maryland.

He served his internship at Toronto General Hospital and studied internal medicine at Johns Hopkins and Harvard University.

Dr. Theodore Franklin Wil-kie of Vancouver, who is known to many residents of Salt Spring Island, will be admitted to the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons as a specialist in plastic surgery.

Ask The Times

Q. Could you please tell me where to write when applying for old age pension for a person born in Canada? Also how soon before his 70th birthday should he apply? C. S.

A. Application forms are available at any post office and should be made out six months before a person's 70th birthday.

Applications should be sent to Box 1177, Victoria, B.C.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Topics of the Day

Adak shortly after midnight is the objective of the Victoria deepsea towboat Sudbury II.

Today she was making a full 15 knots in calm, clear waters north of the Aleutian Island chain, following the first sound night's sleep the crew has enjoyed since leaving New Year's Eve to go to the aid of the propellerless freighter Elli.

The Elli was towed to Adak by a U.S. Navy tug, will be brought to either Victoria or Vancouver by the Sudbury.

Officials of Island Tug and Barge, owners of the Sudbury, expect the tow will start Friday or Saturday.

Vancouver Island Chapter, American Society for Metals, will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Dockyard Officers' Club to hear Robert E. Olson speak on "The Hanford Adventure," an address dealing with the field of metallurgy.

Victoria Dental Assistants' Association will hold its monthly meeting in the office of Dr. Stanley Miles Tuesday at 6:45 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Dr. M. J. T. Dohan.

Sidney residents will be without water service Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. while water mains are replaced in the area north of Henry Ave. and west of Fifth Street, including Fifth.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Rowell, pastor emeritus at Central Baptist Church, will speak on the ecumenical movement for unity among Christian churches at a meeting of the Evangelical Pastors Fellowship Tuesday at 1 p.m.

The meeting will be held in Parkdale Evangelical Free Church.

Canadian Authors' Association will meet tonight at 8 in the cafeteria of the Douglas Building.

Guest speaker A. H. Marston will give an illustrated address on "The Seven Wonders of Victoria."

A tour of the Inner Harbor by department of transport officials from Ottawa Wednesday was inconclusive.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, who conducted the tour, said it covered the previously considered sites for a new consolidated marine services headquarters.

He told reporters it was not readily apparent whether the Ottawa officials were making a periodic check of the sites or a final survey.

A bruised pedestrian was taken to hospital about 7:30 this morning after a collision with a car on David Street at Gorge Road.

City police said a car driven by Ted Duchen of Nanaimo, was turning left off Gorge onto David and was in collision with Lee Sing, 2515 Rose.

Mr. Sing was taken to hospital with a cut over his eye and bruises, treated and released.

STEELHEAD TOO ELUSIVE FOR JOHN D

John Diefenbaker is back on the salt chuck today after finding Wednesday that a steelhead are not as easy to catch as salmon.

After catching his limit of salmon Tuesday, the federal Opposition Leader went up the San Juan River to try for steelhead.

He was out of luck, but he did see fishing partner Frank Baker land a 10-pounder in Harris Creek.

Today Mr. Diefenbaker re-joined the cruiser Jason for a trip through the Gulf Islands and some leisurely fishing.

He will have another go at steelhead on Friday, probably in the Qualicum area.

On Wednesday he also visited B.C. Forest Products Port Renfrew plant.

FIRST VICTORIA POLICEMAN to receive national police service medals were "pinned" by Mayor R. B. Wilson today — Insp. Brooke Douglass (left) and Insp. John Howe. Special ceremony was arranged for them because they will be attending out-of-town police courses Jan. 22 when 20 colleagues will receive the same honor at a special parade outside police headquarters. The medals were struck in 1960 by the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police to give recognition for 20 years' service in municipal police forces. Insp. Howe, with 32 years to his credit, received the 10-year bar as well as medal. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

Baby-Sitter Pads Offer Necessary Information

By PENNY SAVER

Most young girls who baby-sit for friends or neighbors find that the parents rarely leave sufficient information about caring for the child or even who to contact in case of emergency.

To avoid this, Penny Saver believes that anyone who hires a sitter should have a baby-sitter pad in their home. These metal pads are equipped with a magnetic pencil and have special sections for such information as name, address and phone number of place where parents are; feeding time, bedtime and any special instructions in care of the child; calls received, time parents will be home, fire-department number and police number.

Front leaf of this pad is a convenient place for parents to list such information as the doctor's name, office address and phone number, and home address and phone number; baby's diet and any special care. Price is $1.75.

All parents will treasure a baby picture case which holds 13 photos. Price is $2.95, and plastic picture windows fold into a case. The inside of the case says: "These precious pictures are my valued treasure, if lost please return to..." and space is allowed for your name and address.

Shop also carries passport folders for you who are planning trips this year. Folders are priced at $3.50 and are divided into sections for notes, cheques, passport, tickets and reservations. These are made of genuine morocco and come from West Germany.

A handy item to have in purse or pocket at all times is a petty cash box. This gold metal box has a maple leaf design on the lid with "Victoria" written beneath it. The inside has a plastic divider to keep pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars from getting mixed up. Price is $1.80.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Calorie Counting Small Price To Pay for Weight Reduction

Do you still have that feeling of personal attractiveness you once had—or has fatigue, discouragement, worry, or the strain of hurried or hurried living caused you to lose sight of yourself as an individual?

It is so easy to let this happen, to let planning but Lowman never doing those things which would make life more exciting and more attractive. Sometimes, just a loss of overweight changes a woman's entire outlook on life.

There is no perfect time to begin self-improvement. There will always be some excuse we can use if we wish to put off beginning. The only perfect time is NOW! As most of my readers know, I am bringing you my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan this week to help you become your best-looking self in that length of time.

During the past few days, I have told you how to determine your ideal weight and how to measure yourself. Now, let's get on with the business of counting calories. If we gain weight, it simply means that we are eating more food than our body needs for maintenance and our activities. Therefore, the superfluous food is stored as fat.

No matter what kind of food you eat, you will lose weight if you count calories and eat little enough of it. However, it is essential that you have a well-balanced diet which gives you all the foods vital to good nutrition. This is even more important when you are reducing because your food intake is cut and you are less likely to get all the essentials unless you plan your menus carefully.

Plan your meals with lean meat, fish, seafood, fowl, eggs, some whole grain products, fruits and vegetables, citrus or tomato juice, cottage cheese, and salad greens.

Substitute skim milk for whole milk, fresh fruit or canned water-packed fruit for dessert; avoid fried foods, gravy, rich sauces and salad dressings. You need some carbohydrate foods and fats, but cut down on them.

Take smaller portions of everything and no seconds or between-meal snacks. If you wish to do so, you can save a few calories to eat in between meals, but count them in as part of your allowable daily intake.

Remember that the way you prepare food makes a great difference in its calorie count. Boil, broil, or bake, leaving off the trimmings.

National Dress

The national dress of Vietnamese women combines trousers with a long-sleeved, high-necked dress slit to the hips.

The average woman will lose successfully if she holds her calorie intake to 1,200 a day. Individuals differ in this matter because of differences in metabolism and physical activity. A very active person will require more food than an inactive one, even when reducing.

Thousands of women all over the country are following my Beauty Improvement Plan this week and will continue to do so for eight weeks to see how much more attractive they can become in that time.

If you missed the directions given the first few days of this week, you may want my BIP (Beauty Improvement Plan) kit. This has a comprehensive calorie chart and gives you complete directions for this eight-week plan. It also includes my unique wall chart on which you can plot your weight and watch your beauty

DEAR ABBY

Carrying Things Too Far!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a mail carrier and some of the stories he tells me about the women he sees on his route would curl your hair. He says some of them answer the door in their bathrobes at 2 o'clock in the afternoon! And he has seen some appear in thin, see-through nylon dresses. Anyway, he says he wishes they would cover up as they are disgraceful! I was taught to dress up in the morning, with undergarments, hose, shoes and a fresh house dress. And, believe me, I was not trying to tempt the mail carrier, either. Please print this so the guilty ones will see it and take the hint.

MAIL CARRIER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I doubt if the average housewife has any intention of carrying away the mail carrier. It's her MAIL she's interested in—not your MALE.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper to thank people at the grave for having come to a funeral? My little niece passed away last week. She was only two years old. The funeral was small in attendance, but very lovely. When we were all leaving the cemetery, the child's grandmother went around to all the people she knew and said, "Thank you for coming." This is the first time I have ever heard of thanking people for attending a funeral. Wasn't she out of order?

SIMPLE QUESTION.

DEAR SIMPLE: I see nothing wrong with thanking those she knew for attending the funeral. And if you do, you appear to have dug uncommonly deep to find fault.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going steady with a nice man for six months and he wants me to meet his people. He says his mother wants me to come for dinner. I am 28 and he is 32. When I go to his house for dinner for the first time, should I offer to help his mother or father.

NERVOUS.

DEAR NERVOUS: If his mother has no help in the kitchen and it is apparent that she must do her own cleaning up, by all means offer to help.

DEAR ABBY: Just a comment on the letter from the mother of a fifth grader who wanted a garter belt and nylon stockings. My 12-year-old son is a born conformist. In the fifth grade he started giving me this "But, Mom, everybody else is..." business. I broke him of the habit by answering, "Fine. Give me a list of all the boys and I'll call their mothers and see what they say." Naturally, I was never given the name of one boy. And that put a stop to it.

MRS. M.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ceremony In HMCS Margaree

In accordance with tradition, the ship's bell was used as a font when the three-month-old son of Lt.-Cmdr. J. K. Kennedy, RCN, and Mrs. Kennedy received the names David Watson Culzean at a ceremony in HMCS Margaree. Rev. H. A. Mortimer officiated. The little boy and his parents are house guests of Mrs. Kennedy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Watson, Palmer Road. The baby's paternal grandmother is Mrs. W. R. Kennedy. Godparents are Mrs. R. Vickery, Prince George; Lt.-Cmdr. E. Francis and Mr. F. Boyd, Vancouver. Other guests at the ceremony and reception, both held in the ship's wardroom, were Mrs. Francis, Lt.-Cmdr. J. Creach, RCN, and Mrs. Creach; Mr. and Mrs. H. Buckle, Miss Gall Buckle, Mr. and Mrs. E. Young, Mr. and Mrs. D. Francis, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bayley, Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. M. White and Mrs. B. Cook. The Kennedys will leave Victoria in late January to return to Halifax where Lt.-Cmdr. Kennedy is stationed in HMCS Shearwater.

Heirloom Gown

An heirloom gown, which had been worn by his sister, father, uncles and grandfather was worn by the seven-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Little when he received the names, David Montague, in a ceremony in St. Stephen's Anglican Church. Rev. O. L. Foster officiated. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Little and Mr. and Mrs.

J. C. Hawkes, all of Victoria. His godparents are Mrs. Donald Voris, Seattle, and Mr. David Watkins, Dawson Creek, B.C. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Little, and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Little of North Surrey; Miss S. Shields, Northgate, Calif.; Mrs. Watkins and Mr. Voris. Following the ceremony a luncheon was held in the Dallas Road home of the baby's parents.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

Even Spring Shoes Take the Plunge!

NEW YORK—Leading American shoe designers certainly feel that a little opening can go a long fashion way.

Practically every shoe presented here this week by the National Shoe Institute, had an opening of some kind.

Shoe changes from one season to another are usually gradual and subtle. But this season you'll see open shanks and backs, shelled out shapes, plunging throatlines (you'll hear that word plunging over and over again this season—and in many different ways) and straps.

There are T-straps, horizontal straps, criss-cross, halter, and cantilever straps. There are a number of daytime mules, solid vamp, little heels and absolutely no backs. If the last named become a big favorite it will be a clippety-clippety spring.

Little girls strap slippers (Mary Janes) are a summer choice, this year, for big girls, too.

There is an open back suede boot and a light, cool natural straw boot. There is a spring rain boot of flower strewn patent.

Shoes have never been more colorful and heels have never been so diversified.

There are baby Louis and museum heels. There are spool shapes, stacked cones and simple Cubans. The slender, high sliver still holds fast for late day.

And the hats! Ah me! The hats!

We were treated to a breathtaking show of spring millinery following the announcement of Golden Hat awards. Theme was "What a Difference A Hat Makes". And, as one sumptuous hat after another appeared, the feeling was general that one should never step out of the house, without a hat.

To add spice to slender shifts, small suits and cropped coats, there are the uncluttered hats with generous crowns and swooping brims.

For the most feminine of moods there are delicious new spring bouquets arranged on airy lattice work, also intricately twined turbans of silk, lace and chiffon. Large roll-away brims, face framers, sugar scoop silhouettes, twisting turbans and flower hats are also news makers.

However, the classic favorites, such as the tam, the Breton and the simple cloche, are still in the fashion picture.

Beautiful commentator for the show, Gianna d'Angelo, a fast-rising Metropolitan Opera star, said: "The most wonderful thing a hat does for you is to save you from being just one of the crowd."

Auxiliary To Purchase Electric Razor

It was decided at Monday's meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Veterans Hospital to purchase an electric razor for use in the wards.

Mrs. H. F. Jarvis presided and Mrs. H. Finbow reported that $434.90 was disbursed in December, the larger part of it for seasonal gifts for veterans. Two hundred and fifty-six patients were visited during the Yuletide and each was given a small present.

Three hundred library books were also distributed. Sale of dogwood earrings and pins amounted to $28 in December.

Plans were made for a coffee and sherry party in mid-February and the bazaar in June.

CLUB CALENDAR

Ladies' Auxiliary, Chiefs and Petty Officers' Association, Thursday at 7:45 p.m., Jubiler Hall, Fraser Street.

Four generations together over the holiday season at the Oakcrest Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Morgan, were from the right: Mrs. J. W. Marshall, 88, of North Battleford, Sask.; her son, T. C. Marshall, of Vermillion, Alta., and her granddaughter and great-grandson, Mrs. Morgan and Glen Morgan. Mrs. Marshall, with her son and daughter-in-law, came to Victoria to be present at the first birthday party of baby Glen on December 28. The visitors are house guests in the Morgan home.

Two-Speed Coat, Warm or Cold

NEW YORK (AP)—Fashion writers here to preview spring fashions are discovering that much is being done about the weather.

Not the least is a new type of coat that warms up as the mercury plunges and sheds precipitation even though made of luxury fabrics usually limited to dresses.

Called forterza, it was introduced Tuesday while the rain appropriately fell on sooty vestiges of snow outdoors. A silk print, crepe and an alligator-patterned nylon were the fabrics of the daytime and formal wear coats modelled. The material is chemically sealed, not stitched, to a lightweight foam-rubber backing.

Also in the collections were featherweight, sheer belted coats that looked like spun sugar. Seamed in front to define the waist, and loose in back, they sparkled with jewelled or gold-coin buttons.

Announcing its approval of the return to the feminine form was the House of Hattie Carnegie, traditional suit authority.

Next spring's status suits, as shown at the New York couture groups preview sessions Tuesday, feature jackets with slanted buttonholes, false pockets, tab detail and occasional belts. Skirts skimmed slim hips and flared a bit for modest auto exits and easier walking.

Supper Party

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Creighton will entertain at a supper party in their home at Prospect Lake on Saturday evening. Their guests will be executive members of the British Columbia Young Progressive Conservative Association who will be here from Vancouver for the weekend. Honor guest will be the new president, Mr. Don MacDougall, Vancouver.

Bright Youngsters Face Pressures

OTTAWA (CP)—If your child displays above-average intelligence he may also have complex emotional problems, says a federal health department psychologist.

Dr. Craig M. Mooney of the department's mental health division says that although the special problems of bright youngsters have been studied extensively in the United States during the last five years, Canadians are not generally aware of the various pressures and conflicts confronting children with higher-than-average intelligence quotients.

"With most of these children the basic problem is coping with being a minority of one."

Many bright children are isolated from their fellow students in what is often a painfully felt intellectual "box."

Ten-year-olds who still read comic books don't understand their friend who reads historical novels.

Intellectual isolation is all the more painful to the child or young person because it comes from the very group he wishes to impress most—his peer group, the people of his own age.

A further problem bright children face is the danger that their independence may be interpreted as hostile or aggressive. Because they usually prefer to learn "on their own" and like to attempt difficult or dangerous tasks, they are often misunderstood by their friends and called "show-offs" or "odd-balls."

Dr. Mooney agrees with many other psychologists that special educational programs for highly intelligent youngsters are badly needed in Canada.

"Although a great many enrichment and specially accelerated programs do exist, there is still much to be done to provide challenges for gifted children."

He suggests:
1. Adequate provision for testing intelligence accurately.
2. More in-service education to help teachers provide special courses for bright students.

3. Greater curriculum and methodological guidance for teachers.

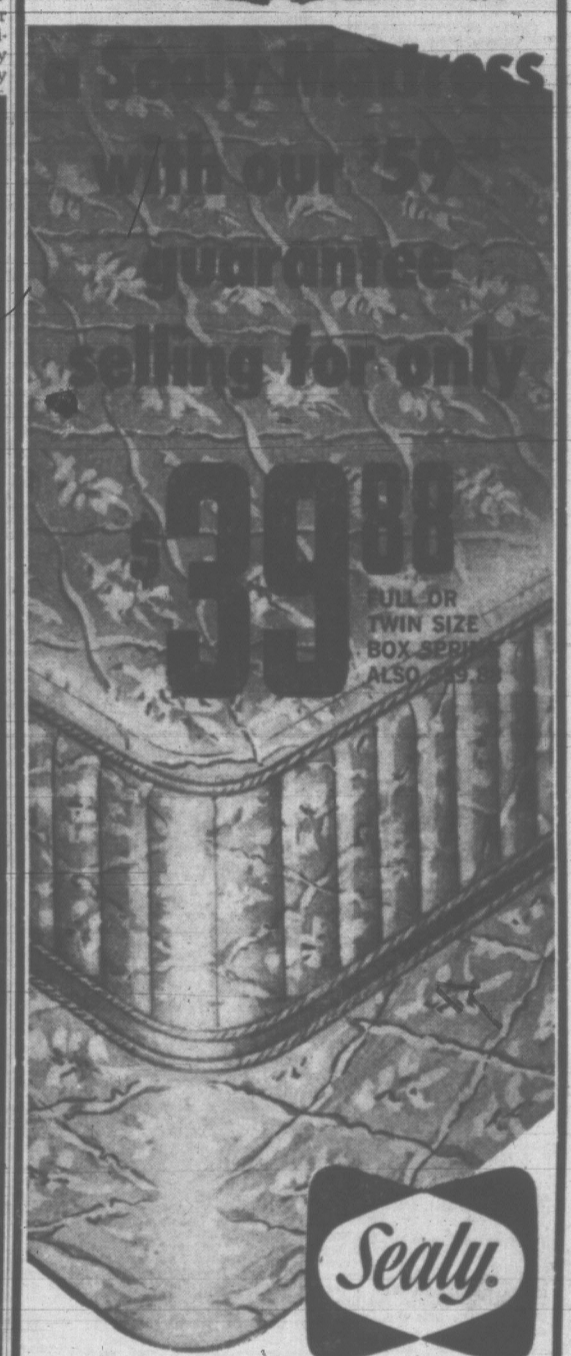

4. Adequate public information on the relationship to general education of special education for the gifted.

DUPLICATE - GOOD VALUE

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

CHANNEL CHIT CHAT: At the request of the Library of Congress, NBC will make available to it a film copy of the network's complete television coverage of the events beginning with the assassination of the late President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, and continuing through his funeral. The coverage spanned four days and totaled 71 hours 36 minutes.

New York Giants' football star Frank Gifford is reported a prospect for the lead in CBS-TV's planned "Tarzan" series. A new dramatic version of "Robin Hood" for youngsters, is presented on NBC-TV's next Children's Theatre show, Feb. 15.

Ethel Merman does a two-parter in CBS-TV's Lucille Ball series starting Feb. 3. ABC-TV's Sid Caesar and Edie Adams shows will be cancelled.

Jimmy Durante and Dorothy Provine guest on NBC-TV's Perry Como special from Dallas Jan. 23. Monty Python's Monty Python is a second cousin of baseball pitching great Dizzy Dean.

British plans pay-TV experiments. CBS' Charles Collingwood becomes a roving European correspondent come spring. The U.S. surgeon-general's long-awaited report about smoking and health is scheduled for release Saturday, and all three U.S. networks are planning same-day specials on the subject.

NBC-TV is pre-empting "The Lieutenant" for a one-hour program on the smoking subject.

CBS-TV has a half-hour planned about 7 p.m., and ABC-TV also a half-hour late Saturday evening. A ship captain has opened a school for actors who want to learn how to sail their boats.

Irene Ryan, "Granny" on The Beverly Hillsbillies, is going on the road this spring with a variety show. Pianist and composer Andre Previn guests on the March 24 NBC-TV "Bell Telephone Hour."

It's reported the high cost of television rights to football bowl games reached a new high for coverage of the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena Jan. 1. For the past few years NBC has paid $500,000 for the TV and radio exclusive, but in renegotiation prior to the game the price topped $750,000.

Lamp Unto My Feet is the oldest religious series on television. It had its premiere Nov. 21, 1948, and is now in its 16th consecutive year.

Buddy Ebsen of the Hillbillies was a lanky chorus boy in Florenz Ziegfeld's "Whoopie," starring Eddie Cantor, in 1928.

Among the many Jack Benny jokes is a description of him as so tight-fisted that he has varicose veins in his knuckles.

THE TROUBLE
IS

1. Too far from town. (Almost three miles from city center.)
2. No basement. (This robs you of the exercise of venturing up and down stairs.)
3. Three bedrooms. (This adds to the cost.)
4. Large workshop. (This means extra insurance.)
5. Large workshop. (This means extra insurance.)
6. Two low taxes. (Next thing you know you are in a low income bracket.)
7. Lots of parking space. (This means extra years of waiting to call when you want to be "alone".)
8. Overpriced. (Why I can remember the price of this house, for a house could be bought for less.)
Because of all these drawbacks the owners have reduced the price
Call Don Bacon, EV 2-4233.

LABOR CHIEF URGES CHURCH TAKE STAND

VANCOUVER (CP) — The church should not remain neutral in labor disputes involving moral issues, Pat O'Neal, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Federation of Labor, said here Wednesday.

He told a meeting of the Young Clergy Club of the Anglican Diocese the church's traditional role has been that of supporting labor's fight for dignity and decent living conditions for all workers.

"Unfortunately, in recent years there has been a tendency for the church to adopt, in many instances, a brotherly neutrality," he said.

"I do not think that when moral issues are involved the church can remain neutral.

"I am not thinking of matters such as wage disputes. Rather I would point to such matters as restrictive labor legislation," O'Neal said.

He said the church should examine and take a definite stand on controversial labor laws in B.C.

Probe Ordered Into Coffin Case

QUEBEC CITY (CP) — A commission later. A budget of $30,000 was allocated for the body and the sessions were expected to be held mainly in Quebec City.

The order-in-council setting up the commission, giving the body six months to submit a report with a provision for extension of the deadline, specially orders an investigation into "the credibility of statements" made by a Mohawk Indian to police in Miami, Fla., five years ago.

GAVE TWO STORIES

The man, Francis Gilbert Thompson, 40, said he and a companion—not Coffin—were responsible for the slayings. But later he retracted the statement.

In Montreal Wednesday night, Mr. Hebert said he was naturally pleased with the government's action, adding:

"What can I say except I am happy to live in a country where one can get justice."

Premier Lesage was standing beside Mr. Hamel when the announcement of the commission was made and the premier said Mr. Hebert would have an opportunity to call witnesses to present his side of the case to Mr. Justice Bro-sard.

Coffin died on the gallows in Montreal Feb. 10, 1956, for the slaying of Richard Lindsay, 17, whose remains were found in 1953 along with those of his father Eugene, 47, and a friend, Frederick Clair, 20.

Bears had mutilated the bodies but medico-legal experts said the three had been shot.

Coffin, tried and convicted in Perce, Que., admitted in statements to police that he had stolen a pair of binoculars, a hunting knife and clothing from the elder Lindsay, but he denied committing the slayings.

His execution was postponed seven times in a legal battle lasting almost two years. He proclaimed he was innocent to the end.

He launched a campaign to clear Coffin's name seven years ago with a book titled "Coffin Etait Innocent" (Coffin was innocent) and moved into the publishing field himself when no publishing house would handle it.

In his latest work he called for a Royal Commission and drew a wide range of support from various quarters.

In Ottawa Dec. 13, the case set off a day-long debate in the House of Commons. A call for a federal Royal Commission to investigate the affair came from Opposition Leader Diefen-baker, T. C. Douglas and Real Caouette.

Mr. Hamel's announcement came after a cabinet meeting. He said a lawyer and a secretary will be appointed to the

FOREST FIRE ERUPTS NEAR LOS ANGELES

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—A brush fire whipped by strong winds broke out on the west side of Malibu Canyon today and forced the evacuation of residents in the Malibu Knolls area.

Los Angeles County officials rushed in men and equipment to fight the blaze that quickly swept over 10 acres and was out of control.

A NIGHT'S WORK WELL DONE

Firemen fought more than an hour to kill a second-storey office blaze at Hickman Tye Hardware, 910 View Street, Wednesday night, holding the damage at $2,000. Two desks, a calculating machine, filing cabinets and walls were damaged in the blaze. Employees in next-door garage gave alarm after smoke began billowing out the windows about 9:30. City police diverted traffic around the block of View Street clogged by fire engines. Origin of fire is still unknown. (Robin Clarke photo.)

PERMANENT

Berlin Seeks Hole in Wall

BERLIN (Reuters)—West Berlin will try for a "comprehensive and if possible permanent" regulation for the movement of people between the two parts of Berlin, Mayor Willy Brandt said today.

Christmas Pass System 'Suitable'

BERLIN (Reuters)—The Christmas passes deal between East and West Berlin is "a suitable basis for further negotiations," the Communist East German government announced tonight.

The government press office, in a statement after a meeting of the presidium of the East German council of ministers, said the government is prepared "to strive for the solution of all questions between the GDR East Germany and West Berlin which contribute toward normalization of relations."

Living Costs Set Record

OTTAWA (CP)—The cost of living in Canada in November rose to a record high, with the consumer price index advancing two-tenths of a point to 134.2 at Dec. 1, the bureau of statistics said today.

The index—based on 1949 prices equaling 100—was 2.3 points above the Dec. 1, 1962, figure of 131.9.

Living costs increased as a result of higher prices for food, clothing, health and personal care, housing and recreation and reading.

Columbia R. Talks Go On

OTTAWA (CP)—Columbia River talks between the federal and British Columbia governments continued in their second day today and External Affairs Minister Martin said he hopes there might be a communiqué later. He indicated that the meeting would end today.

Seek to Prevent Surprise Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration is drafting a proposal for a system of international military observation posts to be set up on both sides of the Iron Curtain in Europe as a safeguard against surprise attack.

It is understood officials are thinking about proposing 20 to 30 posts on each side at key transportation centres where unusual military activity by either Soviet or U.S. forces might be detected.

President Johnson announced in his State of the Union message Wednesday outlining government policy in 1964 that "we shall make new proposals" on disarmament issues when the 17-nation disarmament conference reopens negotiations at Geneva in two weeks.

Work is going forward on the proposals in the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency under the immediate direction of William C. Foster, agency director. He is expected to head the U.S. delegation in the new round of negotiations beginning Jan. 21.

Officials have said the U.S. proposals will deal with familiar issues in new ways which they hope will enlarge the possibility of agreement with the Soviet Union.

CO-ORDINATE POLICIES

Disarmament experts of the United States, Britain, Canada, and Italy are undertaking consultations aimed at co-ordinating their policies. France, whose chair in the conference is empty because President de Gaulle decided not to participate, is an observer in the consultations.

The Western Allies form one bloc in the Geneva conference. Eastern European Communist countries another and a group of smaller nations the third.

The observation posts idea had been about by both East and West for several years. U.S., British and Canadian leaders all have said they consider it one of the best possibilities for a new East-West agreement, but so far there apparently has been little negotiation on numbers and deployment of the posts.

Other issues on which proposals are being drafted include: 1. Agreement at least on the principle of destruction of obsolete weapons to prevent their being distributed to smaller countries. The U.S. B-47 bomber, a jet-powered nuclear bomb carrier, is cited as one example of the kind of weapon which along with its Soviet counterpart, the Badger, could be destroyed.

2. Agreement on a pledge against the dissemination of nuclear weapons to other countries which do not already possess them.

3. Designation by East-West agreement of nuclear free zones in the world. This would mean simply that the nuclear powers would agree not to stockpile weapons in, for example, Latin America, Africa or Asia or at least in designated areas of those continents.

4. Establishment of a committee of experts to work on the problem of putting a ceiling on military budgets.

Goldwater Blasted on Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert McNamara accused Senator Barry Goldwater today of damaging U.S. security and being politically irresponsible in saying that U.S. long-range missiles are not reliable.

McNamara released a statement taking issue with assertions made by Goldwater while the Arizona senator, a candidate for the Republican party's presidential nomination for the November U.S. election, was campaigning in New Hampshire.

Goldwater said that cuts in defence spending proposed by President Johnson would put too much reliance on U.S. missile forces.

Goldwater said intercontinental ballistic missiles are not reliable, adding:

"I can tell you that, and I'll probably catch hell for it."

McNamara's statement of reply was read to reporters by assistant defence secretary Arthur Sylvester.

McNamara's statement said: "Senator Goldwater's reported statement that the U.S. long-range missiles are not dependable is completely misleading, politically irresponsible, and damaging to the national security. There is no information, classified or otherwise, to support the false implication that our long-range missiles cannot be depended upon to accomplish their mission."

In Portsmouth, N.H., Senator Goldwater accused President Johnson today of unwittingly enlisting in a leftist attack on American conservatives by charging that an atmosphere of hate was behind the assassination of President Kennedy.

Goldwater called it "that hate theme" and said it was the "most overdone, the most untruthful attack in the history of this country."

WIRE BRIEFS

Merritt Girl Found

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A 16-year-old girl and a 24-year-old man who disappeared from Merritt on New Year's Eve have been found 80 miles north of here at Vavenby, RCMP said today. They are being returned to Merritt.

Four Rob Bank

MONCTON (CP)—Four men robbed a local bank of an estimated $12,000 today and escaped in a car. About an hour later RCMP reported they had arrested three men and recovered a "sack" of money.

Arson Suspects Held

'Caisse' Robbed

Reform in Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP)—Freier Nguyen Ngoc Tho today outlined a reform program aimed at summing up all national forces in South Viet Nam to win the U.S.-backed war against the Communist Viet Cong. (See story page 5.)

World Praise For LBJ

LONDON (Reuters)—President Johnson's State of the Union message announcing a cut in U.S. nuclear weapons production today won applause in world capitals.

In London, diplomatic quarters showed keen interest in Johnson's disclosure that the United States would make new proposals at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference reopening Jan. 21.

British observers said the speech was bound to improve further the international climate on the eve of the important and complex Geneva negotiations.

Russian newspapers carried Tass news agency reports of the speech without comment.

The London Daily Sketch praised Johnson for showing "real determination" to bring the nuclear arms race to a halt.

'MOMENTUM INCREASED'

"The Kennedy momentum is maintained, even increased," the paper added.

In Paris, the Johnson address was favorably received in French government circles although there was no official comment.

The re-dedication of the administration to the Kennedy stand on racial issues and the policy of giving foreign goods competitive access to the American market were noted with approval in Paris.

But there was nothing in the speech calculated to change the French boycott of the Geneva talks. France considers that preconditions for effective disarmament have not yet been met.

In Rome, the Conservative newspaper L'Unita said the message was neither disappointing nor did it raise enthusiasm, but was based on prudence.

On the international plane it lacked precise directives to as-

Tremors Panic Ont. Area

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Two violent earthquakes in Northern Ontario early Wednesday shot panic through residents here, the site of Canada's first armed missile base.

The tremors, three minutes apart, came two hours after the third shipment of Bomarc missile warheads arrived at the Bomarc base since New Year's Eve, causing frantic phone calls that jammed police switchboards here.

The first tremble was felt at 5:04 a.m. at Deep River, Ont., and the second, more violent, rumbling sound accompanied the shocks, recorded in Peterborough, 132 miles southeast and slightly in Toronto, 200 miles south.

Only damage reported was to the walls of an Owen Sound home. They cracked under the earthquakes pressure.

Green Baize 'Out' Pink Leather 'In'

OTTAWA (CP)—For a considerable number of years, Ottawa's chief status symbol has been the office door covered with green baize.

The baize is supposed to muffle sounds so that private conversations don't become the property of passing eavesdroppers.

The green baize on second-floor doors has been replaced by a peach-pink leatherette. Peach-pink leatherette probably doesn't sound like much of a status symbol—except for one thing: The second-floor offices of the east block are occupied by Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin and their chief aides.

Whether other cabinet ministers, deputy ministers and assistant undersecretaries who occupy the seats of power will aspire to—and attain—the symbolic pinnacle of a leatherette door isn't clear yet.

Priest Murdered

MONTREAL (UPI)—Provincial police said today they were "hot on the trail" of a suspect wanted in connection with the murder of a Roman Catholic priest. Father George Chouinard, 36, was found dead in a motel near Nicolet, Que. An autopsy showed the priest had been beaten to death.

TIGHT LITTLE ISLAND ON LOST BEER CARGO?

MONTREAL (CP)—Quebec Provincial Police said today 5,000 cases of beer are missing from the 40,000-case cargo aboard the schooner Ste. Adresse which ran aground in the St. Lawrence River last month.

The 729-ton vessel was carrying the beer to Sept-Isles when the mishap took place 145 miles northeast of Quebec City.

Police said the cases disappeared although a watchman was hired to keep an eye on the vessel.

There have been reports of big celebrations in the area, police said.

SOCIALIST SOCIETY

New Deal by '75 Nehru Party Aim

BHUBANESHWAR, India (Reuters)—India's ruling Congress party today committed itself to setting up a socialist society and to a new deal for the country's poverty-stricken millions.

The party, holding its annual convention in this northeast city, unanimously adopted a resolution defining its objective as democratic socialism and naming 1975 as the target date for a basic living standard for every Indian.

The resolution was expected to form the basis of the party's blueprint to provide all citizens with the essential requirements in clothing, housing, education and health.

It suggested this would be achieved through a series of measures widely affecting trade, industry and social life.

These included a large public sector of the economy, workers' participation in industrial management and land reforms

SIR JAMES WORE TWO HATS...

Was Governor Douglas a Two-Faced Paleface?

NANAIMO—"Perhaps the white men were speaking with forked tongues," commented crown prosecutor Don Cunliffe Wednesday when attacking the value of an 1854 agreement between Nanaimo Indians and then Governor Sir James Douglas.

Buying Peace

"At the time Sir James was wearing two hats," he went on. "He was governor of the colony and also chief factor for the Hudson's Bay Company. "I think he was buying peace rather than land."

He was speaking in the appeal against a deer killing conviction against Clifford White of the Nanaimo band and David Bob of the Nanaimo band last summer by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts, when they were fined $100 for being in illegal possession of six deer hides under the Provincial Game Act.

Right to Hunt

Defence lawyer Tom Berger of Vancouver contended that under the 1854 agreement, which the prosecution termed a "conveyance," the Indians had the right to hunt over unoccupied lands on the island throughout the year.

This was the second day of the appeal before Mr. Justice A. J. H. Swencisky, which had been adjourned from Dec. 8, 1963.

The defence case is based on the George III proclamation in 1763 stating Indian hunting rights; two 1963 Supreme Court of Canada verdicts upholding the Indian and Eskimo right to hunt and the fact that the "vested rights" of the Indians had never been rescinded.

Didn't Cover West

Mr. Cunliffe contended the proclamation did not cover west coast Indians as they were not discovered at that date—Capt. Cook arrived here in 1776; that treaty Indian verdicts did not apply in British Columbia as treaty Indians had abrogated their native rights under the proclamation by the terms of their treaty and that Section 87 of the Indian Act was specifically designed to include Indians within provincial law; and that the Island agreements were not treaties in any sense, only land conveyances.

No 'Nation'

He also said that there never was an Indian nation

and that Canada had been won from the French by the British, who had then fought an Indian war until the final battle of Bloody Run when the royal proclamation was made.

'Treaty' Queried

Mr. Berger contended the abrogation of aboriginal rights was not included in the original grant to the HBC of Vancouver Island, nor was there any such inclusion in any other agreement. He also questioned the interpretation of the word "treaty" and pointed out under the HBC grant negotiations with the Indians for peaceful settlement was a part of the terms.

"I do not think Mr. Douglas was empowered to enter into any treaties with the Indians. The land sale conveyances were a furtherance of the company policy which he carried out in the capacity of chief factor and not as governor," Crown prosecutor said. "He may have said one thing and meant another. I think the defendants are after the best of both worlds."

"All other agreements signed by the governors were between 1850 and 1851, when he was only chief factor. The Nanaimo agreement was signed three years later when he was holding both offices," he said.

The two cases handed down late last year involved a pit-lamping case in Manitoba and the shooting of a muskox by an Eskimo in the Northwest Territories. Both upheld the natives' right to hunt at all times of the year.

Urges Appeal

Mr. Justice Swencisky commented during the hearing that "no matter what my verdict is in this appeal, I hope it will be further appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada for a final ruling."

The hearing was adjourned until March 4 when he will hand down his decision.

LONGWOOD—If there's one species of the animal kingdom that farmer Archie McCullum can't abide, it's the goat. So how come he has one in his barn with his prize Herefords?

Because he's been lax in his attendance at Lions Club meetings in nearby Mount Brydges, about 20 miles west of London.

Stabling the goat is Mr. McCullum's penalty for his tardiness, an idea conceived by club president Murray Carruthers to keep up club attendance. Truants are required to look after the shaggy, brown and white beast between meetings.

One member who plans to be at the next club meeting, Jan. 19, is Mr. McCullum and its an odds-on certainty the goat will go too.

NEW YORK—They met in Japan 46 years ago. Wednesday they were married by a 101-year-old bishop. The newlyweds are Rev. Dr. Charles S. Iglehart, 83, and Caroline Packham, 72, both former Methodist missionaries in Tokyo and Nagasaki. Bishop Herbert Welch performed the ceremony. "I still remember when they were youngsters," he said.

PHILADELPHIA — Lillian Reis, onetime dancer and former night club owner, has filed a suit seeking $2,050,000 in damages from the Saturday Evening Post.

In the action filed Wednesday against the magazine, Miss Reis charged that she was maligned by an article in the Oct. 26, 1963, issue. She also charged the article appeared without her consent and as a result the sale of her impending biography has suffered.

She also charged the photographs with the article violated the ordinary decency of the community.

Miss Reis is awaiting retrial this month in Pottsville, Pa., on charges of conspiracy in the 1959 burglary of the home of coal operator John B. Rich. The first trial ended in a deadlocked jury.

LILLIAN REIS
... SUES

STAMFORD, England—John Askew, 27, was painting at the newspaper office when a fire broke out Wednesday. He phoned the fire department.

Then, being a volunteer fireman, he jumped on his bicycle, pedalled 500 yards to the firehouse, changed into his uniform and swung onto the engine.

In minutes he was back at the newspaper plant. But Rex Bushnell, manager of the plant, had put out the blaze.

WINNIPEG—One good deed deserves another in Winnipeg's magistrate's court Wednesday.

Result: Magistrate Isaac Rice's driveway gets free shovelling this winter.

When Curtis Butterfield, 20, University of Manitoba student, was unable to pay his $25 fine for drinking under age, Magistrate Rice said he would keep him out of jail by paying it for him.

In return, the magistrate suggested the youth could keep his driveway clear for the rest of the winter.

However, Butterfield was able to pay his fine minutes after he left the courtroom, but decided he would shovel snow for the magistrate anyway because "he tried to help me."

Commented Magistrate Rice: "I hope we have blizzards all the time now."

Former Times Block
Bought by Eaton's

Purchase of the five-story Times Building at Fort and Broad was confirmed Wednesday by T. Eaton Co. Ltd., whose property adjoins.

B.C. general manager F. E. West did not disclose the purchase price, but said acquisition was for possible store expansion.

There are no such plans yet, however, and the building will remain devoted to offices indefinitely, Mr. West said.

There are 25,000 square feet of space in the building, which was offered for sale last July by the owner.

Before 1951 the building was home of this newspaper, which was bought in 1949 by G. Max Bell, Calgary publisher and financier. It became an office block when Victoria Press Ltd. moved into its building on Douglas Street.

Former owner of the Times' and Eaton's premises was the pioneer department store family, Spencers.

Arrests, Dismissals
Of Ghana Officials

Times News Services

ACCRA—Dr. J. B. Danquah, one of Ghana's leading lawyers, was arrested and detained Wednesday under Ghana's Preventive Detention Act, it was officially announced.

President Nkrumah's office also announced that Ghana's commissioner of police, E. R. T. Madjitey, and nine other senior police officers had been dismissed from their posts effective Wednesday.

The announcements from the president's office said two of the police officers, S. D. Amaning, deputy commissioner of police, and M. K. Awuku, president of police, had been detained.

The detentions and dismissals followed a wave of protests in Ghana against police following what was described as an unsuccessful attempt on President Nkrumah's life here last Thursday.

However, Nkrumah may not have been the main target for the five bullets.

Salifu Dagarti, 50, the slain security guard, is described as a harsh disciplinarian who had quarrelled with the accused slayer, Police Constable Seth Nicholas Kwame Ametewee.

By sifting fact and speculation from sources in rumor-ridden Ghana, this outline of the shooting and its aftermath emerges:

Nkrumah stepped out of his offices in Flagstaff House about 1 p.m. for a drive to luncheon at his residence, Christianburg Castle. He was dressed in a white jacket believed to be bullet-proof.

Dagarti was at his side as Nkrumah descended three steps toward the limousine.

A uniformed policeman walked swiftly toward the president and opened fire. He was less than 20 feet away.

There is stronger evidence that Nkrumah scurried back into Flagstaff House, chased by Ametewee. The president ran through several rooms into the kitchen.

Police guards, who apparently scattered for their own safety when the shooting started, caught and disarmed the slayer as he entered the kitchen after Nkrumah. The gunman had no more cartridges.

Hiccuper Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man who had been hiccupping for five days died here late Tuesday. Jack Perry, 47, was treated for hiccups at noon Tuesday, then went home. Relatives later found him dead.

Housewife Pressing
Garbage Campaign

A Saanich housewife is determined that enough complaints will go on record to secure weekly garbage collection.

Mrs. T. D. W. McCulloch, 2432 Camelot, is starting a new campaign to petition Saanich council for more frequent service.

She mailed a petition to council requesting weekly collection "instead of the 14 to 17-day collection which is presently operating."

Mrs. McCulloch is appealing for people throughout the municipality to send similar petitions.

Saanich council discussed the problem at length in 1963, and referred it to the 1964 health and welfare committee.

Malaysian
Peace Talks
Goal of Parley

MANILA (AP)—A high-level meeting with Malaysian officials to find a peaceful solution to the dispute between Malaysia and Indonesia is emerging as the goal of current talks between Indonesian President Sukarno and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal, highly placed sources indicated today.

The sources, who refused to be identified, said the Philippines and Indonesia do not regard the present situation as an insurmountable obstacle to revival of Maphilindo, the association that Indonesia and the Philippines formed with Malaya last summer before it became the nucleus of the Malaysian federation.

The sources said there was agreement in the current talks that the door should be left open for the inclusion of Malaysia in Maphilindo and for the possible admission of such other Asian countries as Thailand, Cambodia, Laos and Burma.

MAY BACK CLAIM

It was also indicated that Indonesia may make a public announcement of support for the Philippine claim to British North Borneo, now the Malaysian state of Sabah.

The Malaysian government's refusal to Philippine conditions concerning negotiations of this claim have blocked Manila's recognition of Malaysia.

Arthur Mayse

I think it's all wrong that publisher Roy Thomson should expect to keep while accepting a British hereditary title.

So, apparently, does Prime Minister Pearson, who hasn't let himself be moved by the tear-jerking eloquence with which Baron designate Thomson presses his bid for special privilege.

Let him latch on to the title if that's his wish... but not, say I, as a citizen of a New World country which has turned its face away from such trappings.

It was not until 1935 that we finally rid ourselves of this distasteful nonsense of English titles for Canadians. This was done under the late W. L. Mackenzie King's Liberal government, after a false start by an earlier political regime.

Since that year, even though the title has been argued, connived and belied against by those who feel their importance rates more than our universal "mister," no government has seen fit to bring the sign-manual of vested privilege back to Canadian soil.

I hope most fervently that none ever will, not even to make Roy Thomson happy. This wish, I think, is shared by most Canadians.

There are two ideals to which we on this side of the water cling, even though there are times when we pay them no more than lip service, and may never realize them in fact.

One is the noble American hypothesis of the equality of man.

Observation and common sense tells us this is a fairy-tale; that the laws of heredity reduce it to wishful thinking, and that life disproves it every minute of the day.

But abandon it? Accept the view that men are not born equal? Do that and we are launched at once on a downgrade, the gains of our fathers traded for a creed of seef and master, gentleman and commoner.

Do you want that creed back? Would you be happy to accept a station in life fixed by the accident of birth? I wouldn't! The mere thought makes me growl.

We maintain also the fiction of a society free from class distinction. When I urge that we continue to preserve this, I am not being hypocritical. There are signs that the fiction may one day become fact. The time is past when the cheapest white-collar man could regard himself as superior to the skilled artisan.

We are on our way toward hammering out a social order based on demonstrated merit. Why, then, confuse a clear issue by fetching back upon the Canadian scene the hereditary title which is the mainspring of class distinction?

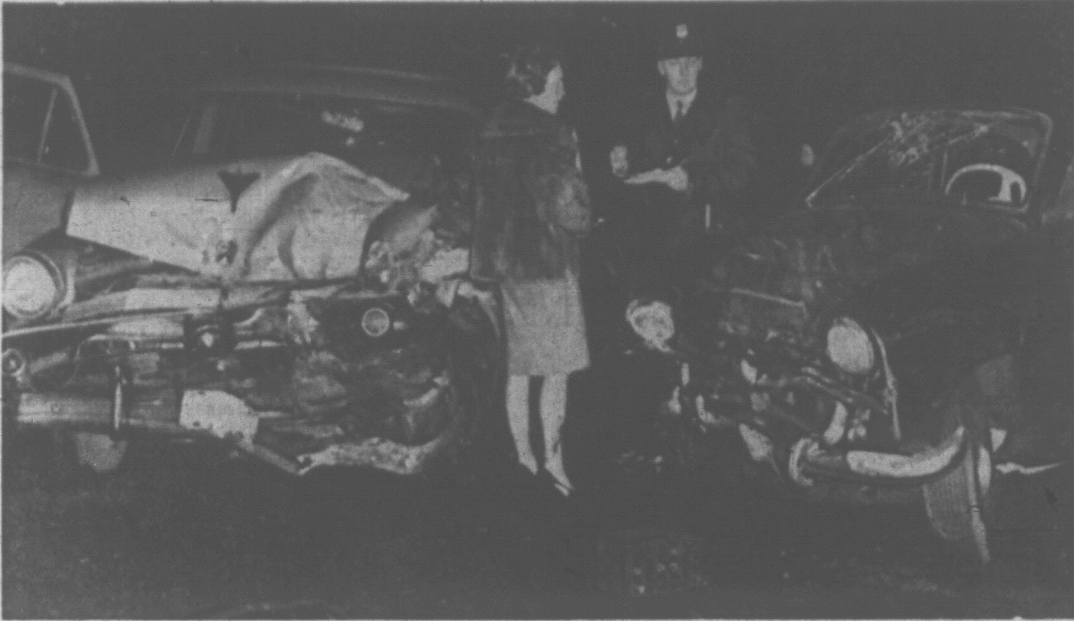

I have no quarrel with the English way — not, at least, while it remains within the confines of its island. The English are an older race than we, and have learned to abide their gentry with a certain cynical humor.

Intelligent Englishmen I've encountered respect and like the Royal Family. This respect carries over to the old houses, the titles rich in tradition, and the honors won by great deeds. But for the political title, the bought entry into the peerage, our cousins have no respect whatever.

We are young here to fall into a settled cynicism. Better, I think, to reward our men and women of achievement by methods other than a title which may pass from a worthy father to mediocre son and worthless grandson.

It seems to me that the Canada Council Medal—which we have heard strangely little about since 1961—should be sufficient symbol of recognition for anyone in this democratic land.

But let's keep the titles out, even if to do so we must rob poor Roy Thomson of the Canadian citizenship which he obviously values less than his shiny new place among England's peers.

Film, Record On Sex Given Parents' Okay

Use of a film and tape recording on sex education was endorsed Wednesday night by members of Belmont High School Association, in Sooke School District.

The next meeting of the association will be asked to urge use of the media—with a physician on hand to answer questions—in the school program.

Members saw the film Boy to Man, which explains puberty and a general idea of the reproductive system, and heard a 50-minute recording of a lecture given by a doctor to a Chilliwack class, dealing with female adolescence.

There was some disagreement between parents over what would be the most suitable age for exposure to the material.

EARLIER PRESENTATION

The program is aimed at boys of 13-14, and girls slightly younger, but there was feeling that boys should be given the education earlier, perhaps at 11 years.

Mrs. Patricia Kahr, health-education liaison officer, gave a brief talk, in which she favored children be given the lecture and film at the pre-teen age.

A spokesman said later Mrs. Kahr said "enthusiasm for the breakaway in sex education is extremely high in parents and children and she hoped it would lead to further advances in this field."

Interest in sex education in Sooke district 62, which adjoins Greater Victoria school district, was due partly to a program based on film and tape recording that is proposed for Victoria schools.

This program is ready to implement, pending expression of opinion by a panel of clergymen, and approval by the board of trustees.

Negligee Theft Costs Woman $50

A woman who shoplifted a $51 negligee from the T. Eaton department store Jan. 3 pleaded guilty in city police court today to theft.

Magistrate Ostler fined Jean Henderson, of Calgary, $50. Eaton's store detective Archibald Logan told the court the accused woman was seen in the lingerie department to pick the garment off a rack, fold it and put it in a bag.

She then left the store and was stopped at the door.

"Happy" is the mutt the TV shines on.

MUTTS UNLIMITED

Happy Days Ahead For Mr. Mixture?

By MONTE ROBERTS

Latest candidate for the muttiest mutt of all the mutts in Victoria is a weird collection of canine characteristics known to one and all as "Happy."

Known facts about Happy are these: he's nine months old, was obtained from the SPCA by 15-year-old Elly Voorsluys; 2 Gorge Road West, likes a bite of sharp cheese at bedtime, and is inclined to shed real tears when Elly leaves him at home.

Among the more uncertain facets of Happy's character are the ancestors claimed of him by Elly—namely, cocker spaniels and scottish terriers. Among men who know doggies best, there's a strong feeling about poddism.

Be that as it may, Happy rates as a strong contender for an up-coming role in the Television series Peticcoat Junction.

Dick Wesson, producer of the show, has decided to add a canine character, and will judge entries submitted by photograph to:

Mutts Unlimited, Victoria Times, Victoria, B.C.

The photos will be sent to Mr. Wesson in Hollywood, who will decide which, if any, of Victoria's mutts should be given a TV audition. Remember — mutts the word. No pedigree snobs need apply.

Well-Known Sheep Dog Disappears

One of B.C.'s finest working dogs has disappeared from his home in Metchosin.

"Skip," a 60-pound, black and white, long-haired border collie known to thousands of Victoria Day parade watchers, has been missing for a week.

His owner, W. S. Dupree, today offered a "substantial" reward for the dog's safe return.

Anyone sighting Skip should contact Tim O'Toole, 4024 Metchosin Road, GR 8-4596.

Mr. O'Toole, speaking for Mr. Dupree who is 83, said it is difficult to place a valuation on Skip, but he says the dog is worth well over $500.

He has performed for several years in Victoria parades, herding sheep in company with three dogs from Michael Williams Boarding and Training Kennels. Gentle and highly-trained, Skip is five years old.

The dog is also the companion of Mr. Dupree on his 350-acre Parry Lodge property and caretaker of 80 sheep and a herd of steers.

Mr. O'Toole said Mr. Dupree is "heartbroken." The owner believes the dog may have been tempted away by a female dog. But because the area contains several sheep ranches, there is fear he may be shot as a stray.

Inquests Set

An inquest will be held Friday morning at 10 in Sands' Colwood funeral chapel for Mrs. May Preston, 1024 Hallsam, killed Oct. 29 in a collision at Trans-Canada and Helmcken.

Scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday at Haywards is the inquest into the death of Mrs. Mary Ann Wain, 75, who died Tuesday night after she was in collision with a car while she walked on north Douglas near her home.

Jordan River Flood Threat Lessening

Embattled Cowichan Copper Co. crews today continued attempts to save their mine from further flooding and washout, while the threat of flooding at nearby Jordan River eased despite half an inch of overnight rain.

Engineers and miners succeeded in cutting a diversion channel for waters that surged to the surface from the flooded mine and carried thousands of dollars worth of mine property into the Jordan River Tuesday. The slide caused heavy silted downstream.

Company president Oswald G. MacDonald said crews had been unable to divert the new stream as hoped Wednesday, but he expected this would be done today.

At Jordan River, the fore-shore booming ground of Canadian Puget Sound Logging was still silt-filled, the company tug grounded by silt and the operation closed.

CHANNEL CLEAR

A spokesman said as long as the company is able to keep one channel clear the threat of flooding on the north bank of the river would not be so great—unless there is heavy rainfall.

He said he could not guess when a dredge could be used to clear out the booming ground and allow the logging operation to resume.

MINE SHUT

A mile upstream at the mine, about 20 of the copper company's 125 miners are employed in diverting the two streams of the Jordan River which have effectively shut down mining.

The first stream entered the mine when an 80-foot-thick part of the river bed collapsed into a mined-out slope, filling the rest of the mine with water. On Monday, this water flow had been plugged at the mine portal level by tons of timbers and debris from inside the mine, forcing the water upward through 250 feet of gravel.

LANDSLIDE

This water then surfaced and carried on down the mountain-side to wash away more than 100,000 cubic yards of earth, trees, rocks and gravel. The landslide carried with it the timber staging, a machine shop, supplies and equipment stationed on two roads leading to the mine portal.

A crew blasted and bulldozed a 300-foot channel from the outflow to the riverbank to eliminate this hazard.

CONCRETE PLUGS

Men are still working around the clock diverting the river for 500 feet from the original hole, which will then be separated from the river by a dike until miners can seal off levels inside the mine with concrete plugs.

This work is expected to be finished by next week or the following week, allowing the mine to be pumped dry and put back to work at month-end.

Mr. MacDonald said the copper ore refining mill which is located underground some 7,400 feet inside the portal, will be able to work when motors and switching gear are dried out.

Original efforts to halt the flow of river water by dumping gravel and car bodies into the bed were abandoned in favor of diverting the river.

GIVE FACILITIES

Help Ferry Customers BCAA Plea

A plea for services to weary and hungry motorists forced to wait for government ferries was made to the B.C. cabinet today.

Restaurants and washrooms should be built outside the inaccessible ferry compounds, the B.C. Automobile Association said.

Association officials made the suggestion in their annual brief, presented to a cabinet meeting here this morning.

"A considerable number of complaints have been received by our association concerning the inaccessibility of terminal facilities to motorists who are waiting for ferries at Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay," the brief said.

HOLIDAY CRISIS

The problem reached crisis proportions over the Christmas holiday period when motorists had to wait up to four hours for ferries.

Restaurants and washrooms are inside the wire compounds. At busy times when the enclosure is full and no more cars can pass the gates, latecomers outside the gates are "out of luck."

Foot passengers may pay their admission and go through the gates, but there is no system whereby a person can enter the compound, then be given a pass-out check which will give him readmission without fee when he returns with his car.

Persons meeting ferry passengers suffer the same inconveniences.

'LITTLE EXPENSE'

The automobile association said it would mean "little expense" to build facilities outside the compound.

It also reported complaints about motorists having to wait for trucks to get off the ferries, particularly at Horseshoe Bay.

"This means that automobiles are forced to remain behind trucks along the Upper Levels Highway unless they take the risk of passing."

PERMANENT PLATES

Another proposal was for a return of permanent licence plates, dropped after three years in 1954.

The association said five-year aluminium plates with renewable tabs for each year would mean a big saving.

This idea was dropped in 1954 because the motor vehicles branch found clerical costs of processing licences were more than the savings in metal.

Royal College Admitting Two Victoria Specialists

Two Victoria doctors — James Hebert Duxbury and Francis Dallos Milligan — have won recognition as specialists of urology and internal medicine respectively.

They will be admitted as fellows of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada at a convocation in Quebec next Thursday.

Dr. Duxbury, a native of Nanaimo, now practising in Victoria, has passed an examination in urology.

He was educated at John Shaw High School, Nanaimo, and the University of British Columbia and took his M. D. at McGill University, Montreal.

Dr. Milligan, 49 Tovey Crescent, View Royal, has passed an examination in internal medicine. Raised in Victoria, he was educated at St. Louis College and graduated in medicine at the Johns Hopkins University school of medicine, Baltimore, Maryland.

He served his internship at Toronto General Hospital and studied internal medicine at Johns Hopkins and Harvard Universities.

Yarrows Fears Loss of Job To U.S. Yard

Likely winner of the contract to repair extensive damage to the 500-foot freighter Maratha Endeavour is Yarrows Ltd., but a strike threat may lose the job to a United States yard.

King Bros. Ltd., agents for the British-owned ship, said today Yarrows submitted the bid had been submitted without the usual guarantee against work stoppage.

Twenty-two unions whose members work at Yarrows, Burrard Dry Dock, and Victoria Machinery Depot have approved a strike vote and turned down a recommendation of a conciliation board. The shipyards have accepted the recommendation.

OWNERS INFORMED

Mr. Wallace said it was "only fair" to the owners to make them aware of the situation. He said repairs would take about six weeks.

The Maratha Endeavour is at present under the 100-ton crane at the government Graving Dock's north jetty. Her entire cargo of 8,500,000 board feet bound for Japan is being discharged and stored on the jetty.

When she grounded in Trincomali Channel Dec. 15, she fractured plates for almost the entire length of her hull.

Chamber Studies Future Use Of Old Building

A Chamber of Commerce feasibility study aimed at preserving the old Heaney Carriage office building on Bastion Square is continuing. Chamber president E. E. Pearlman and other executive members visited City Hall this morning.

"They asked us for more information but there still is no conclusion," said Mayor R. B. Wilson after the meeting.

Ask The Times

Q. Could you please tell me where to write when applying for old age pension for a person born in Canada? Also how soon before his 70th birthday should he apply? C. S.

A. Application forms are available at any post office and should be made out six months before a person's 70th birthday.

Applications should be sent to Box 1177, Victoria, B.C.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve our readers' or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old notes, stamps or collectibles. These should be submitted to a dealer. Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Topics of the Day

Adak shortly after midnight is the objective of the Victoria deep-sea towboat Sudbury II.

Today she was making a full 15 knots in calm, clear waters north of the Aleutian Island chain, following the first sound night's sleep the crew has enjoyed since leaving New Year's Eve to go to the aid of the propeller-less freighter Ell.

The Ell was towed to Adak by a U.S. Navy tug, will be brought to either Victoria or Vancouver by the Sudbury.

Officials of Island Tug and Barge, owners of the Sudbury, expect the tow will start Friday or Saturday.

Vancouver Island Chapter, American Society for Metals, will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Dockyard Officers' Club to hear Robert E. Olson speak on "The Hanford Adventure," an address dealing with the field of radio-metalurgy.

Victoria Dental Assistants' Association will hold its monthly meeting in the office of Dr. Stanley Miles Tuesday at 6:45 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Dr. M. J. T. Dohan.

Sidney residents will be without water service Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. while water mains are replaced in the area north of Henry Ave. and west of Fifth Street, including Fifth.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Rowell, pastor emeritus at Central Baptist Church, will speak on the ecumenical movement for unity among Christian churches at a meeting of the Evangelical Pastors Fellowship Tuesday at 1 p.m.

The meeting will be held in Parkdale Evangelical Free Church.

Canadian Authors' Association will meet tonight at 8 in the cafeteria of the Douglas Building.

Guest speaker A. H. Marrion will give an illustrated address on "The Seven Wonders of Victoria."

A tour of the Inner Harbor by department of transport officials from Ottawa Wednesday was inconclusive.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, who conducted the tour, said it covered the previously considered sites for a new consolidated marine services headquarters.

He told reporters it was not readily apparent whether the Ottawa officials were making a periodic check of the sites or a final survey.

A bruised pedestrian was taken to hospital about 7:30 this morning after a collision with a car on David Street at Gorge Road.

City police said a car driven by Ted Duchon of Nanaimo, was turning left off Gorge onto David and was in collision with Lee Sing, 2515 Rose.

Mr. Sing was taken to hospital with a cut over his eye and bruises, treated and released.

STEELHEAD TOO ELUSIVE FOR JOHN D

John Diefenbaker is back on the salt chuck today after finding Wednesday that steelhead are not as easy to catch as salmon.

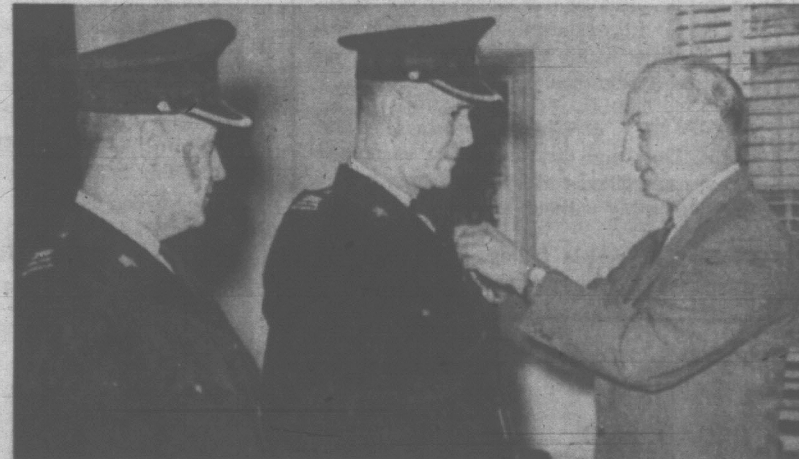

After catching his limit of salmon Tuesday, the federal Opposition Leader went up the San Juan River to try for steelhead.

He was out of luck, but he did see fishing partner Frank Baker land a 10-pounder in Harris Creek.

Today Mr. Diefenbaker rejoined the cruiser Jason for a trip through the Gulf Islands and some leisurely fishing.

He will have another go at steelhead on Friday, probably in the Qualicum area.

On Wednesday he also visited B.C. Forest Products Port Renfrew plant.

FIRST VICTORIA POLICEMAN to receive national police service medals were "pinned" by Mayor R. B. Wilson today — Insp. Brooke Douglass (left) and Insp. John Howe. Special ceremony was arranged for them because they will be attending out-of-town police courses Jan. 22 when 20 colleagues will receive the same honor at a special parade outside police headquarters. The medals were struck in 1960 by the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police to give recognition for 20 years' service in municipal police forces. Insp. Howe, with 32 years to his credit, received the 10-year bar as well as medal. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

FINAL

Leafs to Trade 3 Men for Bathgate?

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says the biggest National Hockey League trade of the season is in the works, with Toronto Maple Leafs offering two or three of their regulars for Andy Bathgate, super-star right winger of the New York Rangers.

Sports Editor Milt Dunnell says the deal could be completed tonight in Boston after a New York-Bruins game if the Leafs can meet the demands of New York manager Muzz Patrick.

Dunnell says the Toronto club has offered left winger Dick Duff and right winger Bob Nevin—and possibly spare defenceman Kent Douglas—in exchange for Rangers' high-scoring veteran.

Cabinet Prepares Letter on Pensions

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet met today to put final touches on a letter to the provincial governments advising them of changes proposed in the Canada Pension Plan.

Prime Minister Pearson said as he entered the session that he hopes the cabinet can conclude its discussion, started earlier in the week, and get a letter off to the premiers—including Premier Lesage of Quebec.

Morals Charge Against Ex-Suitor

MERRITT (CP)—A former suitor of Jill Berkley has been charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency of the Merritt girl New Year's Eve.

Miss Berkley, 16, and Wolfgang Schneider, 24, were found by RCMP Wednesday night in a small cabin near Vavenby, 85 miles north of Kamloops.

Hees to Head Montreal Exchange?

MONTREAL (CP)—The Star reports it was strongly rumored in financial circles today that George Hees, former federal trade minister, will be appointed president of the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Mr. Hees, 53, would succeed Eric Kierans who resigned the presidency last summer to become Quebec's revenue minister.

Leftist Workers Strike In Rome

ROME (UPI)—Communist-led workers today went on strike to protest a bombing of a leftwing union headquarters. Their neo-fascist enemies alleged that a "brutal" police search for dynamites caused the death of a man.

PERMANENT

Berlin Seeks Hole in Wall

BERLIN (Reuters)—West Berlin will try for a "comprehensive and if possible permanent" regulation for the movement of people between the two parts of Berlin, Mayor Willy Brandt said today.

Brandt made the pledge in a statement to the West Berlin City Parliament calling for a vote of confidence on the Christmas passes system and the sanctioning of further attempts to restore freedom of movement to the divided city.

He gave the first detailed report of negotiations between West Berlin and East German representatives that led to the 18-day system under which West Berliners made more than 1,200,000 Yuletide visits to East Berlin.

The passes system ended Sunday night but both sides expressed willingness for further negotiations toward a permanent agreement allowing visits through the Communist-built border wall.

Brandt said that in consultation with the West German government in Bonn and the three Western allies the city government would try for a "comprehensive and if possible permanent" regulation for the movement of people between the two parts of Berlin.

World
Praise
For LBJ

LONDON (Reuters)—President Johnson's State of the Union message announcing a cut in U.S. nuclear weapons production today won applause in world capitals.

In London, diplomatic quarters showed keen interest in Johnson's disclosure that the United States would make new proposals at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference reopening Jan. 21.

British observers said the speech was bound to improve further the international climate on the eve of the important and complex Geneva negotiations.

Russian newspapers carried Tass news agency reports of the speech without comment. The Daily Telegraph portrayed Johnson as a leader who is "marching straight ahead."

"MOMENTUM INCREASED"
"The Kennedy momentum is maintained, even increased," the paper added.

In Paris, the Johnson address was favorably received in French government circles although there was no official comment.

The re-dedication of the administration to the Kennedy stand on racial issues and the policy of giving foreign goods competitive access to the American market were noted with approval in Paris.

But there was nothing in the speech calculated to change the French boycott of the Geneva talks. France considers that preconditions for effective disarmament have not yet been met.

In Rome, the Conservative newspaper L'Unita said the message was neither disappointing nor did it raise enthusiasm, but was based on prudence.

A NIGHT'S WORK WELL DONE

Firemen fought more than an hour to kill a second-storey office blaze at Hickman Tye Hardware, 910 View Street, Wednesday night, holding the damage at $2,000. Two desks, a calculating machine, filing cabinets and walls were damaged in the blaze. Employees in next-door garage gave alarm after smoke began billowing out the windows about 9:30. City police diverted traffic around the block of View Street clogged by fire engines. Origin of fire is still unknown. (Robin Clarke photo.)

FOREST FIRE ERUPTS
NEAR LOS ANGELES

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—A brush fire whipped by strong winds broke out on the west side of Malibu Canyon today and forced the evacuation of residents in the Malibu Knolls area.

Los Angeles County officials rushed in men and equipment to fight the blaze that quickly swept over 10 acres and was out of control.

New Hope of Ending
Strike at Racetrack

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Face-to-face negotiations between representatives of the striking building service employees' union and Santa Anita resumed today while racing was called off for the third day at the luxurious winter course.

County Federation of Labor Secretary W. J. Bassett, who has acted as an unofficial mediator in the dispute, brought the opposing representatives together at his office.

The meeting got under way at the central labor council headquarters in Los Angeles after Bassett contacted both sides and prevailed on them to get together "just to see how far apart they are."

It was the first meeting since negotiations broke off Monday afternoon and a few hours later the track was picketed.

The union, which includes among its striking members the entire part-mutual clerks force, was represented by international vice-president George Hardy.

SOCIALIST SOCIETY

New Deal by '75
Nehru Party Aim

BHUBANESHWAR, India (Reuters)—India's ruling Congress party today committed itself to setting up a socialist society and to a new deal for the country's poverty-stricken millions.

The party, holding its annual convention in this northeastern city, unanimously adopted a resolution defining its objective as democratic socialism and naming 1975 as the target date for a basic living standard for every Indian.

The resolution was expected to form the basis of the party's blueprint to provide all citizens with the essential requirements in clothing, housing, education and health.

It suggested this would be achieved through a series of measures widely affecting trade, industry and social life. These included a large public sector of the economy, workers' participation in industrial management and land reforms and progressive state control through co-operatives in agricultural processing industries such as rice and flour mills.

The resolution also provided for expansion of educational facilities for all children, removal of wide disparities in incomes and stricter control of credit institutions.

The program aimed at "the ultimate creation of a society without poverty, disease and ignorance, with all citizens having equal opportunities for advancement."

Posts Scheme

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration is drafting a proposal for a system of international military observation posts to be set up on both sides of the Iron Curtain in Europe as a safeguard against surprise attack.

It is understood officials are thinking about proposing 20 to 30 posts on each side at key transportation centres where unusual military activity by either Soviet or U.S. forces might be detected.

President Johnson announced in his State of the Union message Wednesday outlining government policy in 1964 that "we shall make new proposals" on disarmament issues when the 17-nation disarmament conference reopens negotiations at Geneva in two weeks.

Work is going forward on the proposals in the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency under the immediate direction of William C. Foster, agency director. He is expected to head the U.S. delegation in the new round of negotiations beginning Jan. 21.

Officials have said the U.S. proposals will deal with familiar issues in new ways which they hope will enlarge the possibility of agreement with the Soviet Union.

CO-ORDINATE POLICIES

Disarmament experts of the United States, Britain, Canada, and Italy are undertaking consultations aimed at co-ordinating their policies. France, whose chair in the conference is empty because President de Gaulle decided not to participate, is an observer in the consultations.

The Western Allies form one bloc in the Geneva conference, Eastern European Communist countries another and a group of smaller nations the third.

The observation posts idea had been talked about by both East and West for several years. U.S., British and Canadian leaders all have said they consider it one of the best possibilities for a new East-West agreement, but so far there apparently has been little negotiation on numbers and deployment of the posts.

Other issues on which proposals are being drafted include: 1. Agreement at least on the principle of destruction of obsolete weapons to prevent their being distributed to smaller countries. The U.S. B-47 bomber, a jet-powered nuclear bomb carrier, is cited as one example of the kind of weapon which along with its Soviet counterpart, the Badger, could be destroyed.

2. Agreement on a pledge against the dissemination of nuclear weapons to other countries which do not already possess them.

3. Designation by East-West agreement of nuclear free zones in the world. This would mean simply that the nuclear powers would agree not to stockpile weapons in, for example, Latin America, Africa or Asia or at least in designated areas of those continents.

4. Establishment of a committee of experts to work on the problem of putting a ceiling on military budgets.

Goldwater
Blasted on Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert McNamara accused Senator Barry Goldwater today of damaging U.S. security and being politically irresponsible in saying that U.S. long-range missiles are not reliable.

McNamara released a statement taking issue with assertions made by Goldwater while the Arizona senator, a candidate for the Republican party's presidential nomination for the November U.S. election, was campaigning in New Hampshire.

Goldwater said that cuts in defence spending proposed by President Johnson would put too much reliance on U.S. missile forces.

Goldwater said intercontinental ballistic missiles are not reliable, adding:

"I can tell you that, and I probably catch hell for it."

McNamara's statement of reply was read to reporters by assistant defence secretary Arthur Sylvester.

McNamara's statement said "Senator Goldwater's reported statement that the U.S. long range missiles are not dependable is completely misleading, politically irresponsible, and damaging to the national security. There is no information classified or otherwise, to support the false implication that our long-range missiles cannot be depended upon to accomplish their mission."

In Portsmouth, N.H., Senator Goldwater accused President Johnson today of unwittingly enlisting in a leftist attack on American conservatives by charging that a "climate of hate" was behind the assassination of President Kennedy.

Goldwater called it "the hate theme" and said it was the "most overdone, the most untruthful attack in the history of this country."

Columbia R.
Talks Go On

OTTAWA (CP)—Columbia River talks between the federal and British Columbia governments continued in their second day today and External Affairs Minister Martin said he hopes there might be a compromise later. He indicated that the meeting would end today.

Was Governor Douglas a Two-Faced Paleface?

By JOHN PAIN

NANAIMO—"Perhaps the white men were speaking with forked tongues," commented crown prosecutor Don Cunliffe Wednesday when attacking the value of an 1854 agreement between Nanaimo Indians and then Governor Sir James Douglas.

"At the time Sir James was wearing two hats," he went on. "He was governor of the colony and also chief factor for the Hudson's Bay Company. I think he was buying peace rather than land."

He was speaking in the appeal against a deer killing conviction against Clifford White of the Nanaimo band and David Bob of the Nanaimo band last summer by Magistrate Lionel Beevor Potts, when they were fined $100 for being in illegal possession of six deer hides under the Provincial Game Act.

Right to Hunt

Defence lawyer Tom Berger of Vancouver contended that under the 1854 agreement, which the prosecution termed a "conveyance," the Indians had the right to hunt over unoccupied lands on the Island throughout the year.

This was the second day of the appeal before Mr. Justice A. J. H. Swensky, which had been adjourned from Dec. 8, 1963.

The defence case is based on the George III proclamation in 1763 stating Indian hunting rights; two 1963 Supreme Court of Canada verdicts upholding the Indian and Eskimo right to hunt and the fact that the "vested rights" of the Indians had never been rescinded.

Mr. Cunliffe contended the proclamation did not cover west coast Indians as they were not discovered at that date—Capt. Cook arrived here in 1776; that treaty Indian verdicts did not apply in British Columbia as treaty Indians had abrogated their native rights under the proclamation by the terms of their treaty and that Section 87 of the Indian Act was specifically designed to include Indians within provincial law; and that the Island agreements were not treaties in any sense, only land conveyances.

No 'Nation'

He also said that there never was an Indian nation and that Canada had been won from the French by the British, who had then fought an Indian war until the final battle of Bloody Run when the royal proclamation was made.

Mr. Berger contended the abrogation of aboriginal rights was not included in the original grant to the HBC of Vancouver Island, nor was there any such inclusion in any other agreement. He also questioned the interpretation of the word "treaty" and pointed out under the HBC grant negotiations with the Indians for peaceful settlement was a part of the terms.

"I do not think Mr. Douglas was empowered to enter into any treaties with the Indians. The land sale conveyances were a furtherance of the company policy which he carried out in the capacity of chief factor and not as governor," Crown prosecutor said. "He may have said one thing and meant another. I think the defendants are after the best of both worlds."
